IKE WILL GO TO KOREA IF ELECTED

U.N. Won't Back Down, Acheson Declares

Charges USSR Won't Permit Korean Truce

Assembly Asked To Endorse Stand

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 24 (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Acheson served firm notice to cheering delegates today that the U. N. "cannot buy peace at the price of honor." He accused the Russians of organizing and continuing the Korean conflict and said the Allies must fight on in Korea until the Reds accept an armistice on U. N. terms.

At the end of a two hour and 42 minute speech to the 60-nation Assembly Political Committee, Acheson introduced his resolution asking the U. N. to endorse the unified command stand in the Panmunjom talks—especially its adamant position against forced repatriation of prisoners.

The resolution also called on the Assembly to urge the Communists to accept an armistice on the terms laid down by the U. N. and asked the president of the Assembly to inform the Reds of this decision.

Briton Praises Speech

In what British Delegate Selwyn Lloyd called a "magnificent" speech, Acheson declared the U. N. must find out whether the Communists really want an armistice.

He then read the resolution, in which 20 other nations joined as sponsors, and said:

"This session of the General Assembly has the great responsibility of peace in Korea. We must not and cannot buy peace at the price of honor."

Acheson called attention to the sacrifices of the U. N. nations fighting in Korea and soberly said:

"Let no act of ours weaken or destroy the noble purpose of their sacrifice."

Cheers and noisy applause broke out as Acheson leaned back in his chair and the committee chairman Joao Carlos Muniz of Brazil, adjourned the meeting until 3 p. m. (EST) Monday. There was an indication that the Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky may reply at length Monday but no definite word was forthcoming tonight.

Indictment Of Russia

Acheson's speech was a full-length indictment of the Soviet Union on the charges of organizing and equipping the North Korean Army, carrying on the struggle through its satellite even after the aggression had been repelled, and now refusing to permit the North Koreans and Chinese Communists to accept truce terms.

Acheson was especially vigorous in declaring that aggression has been checked and hurled back beyond its point of origin. He added that the United Nations, although opposed by the Communists outside Korea, "has limited the conflict to Korea itself and the idea is to continue to limit the conflict to Korea."

Acheson Blames Kremlin For Korea War

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson speaks at a meeting of the U.N. Political Committee in New York yesterday, charging that North Korea is controlled absolutely by Russia and blaming the Kremlin for troubles which have beset Korea. Seated at right is Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, who made several notes during Acheson's talk. Seated in center is Selwyn Lloyd, minister of state for foreign affairs of the United Kingdom.

Ridgway Says NATO Can Afford Strength

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said tonight the 14 NATO nations can afford to finance forces strong enough "to give us a reasonable chance of defending ourselves' against a Communist attack.

"We have not yet got such forces," he added in a speech prepared for delivery at the El Alamein reunion here. "We are convinced that these we need can be provided within our economic capacity."

Ike's Crusade Has Collapsed, Stevenson Says

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 24 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson said tonight that Dwight D. Eisenhower's crusade for the presidency has collapsed and that the general has taken "unto himself men so objectionable he cannot bring himself to mention their names."

Stevenson, the Democratic nominee for the White House, said in an address prepared for delivery at a rally at the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute Field House:

"He (Eisenhower) has endorsed the die-hard enemies of social progress. He embraced these men, one by one, and demanded that the American people send them to the Senate of the United States."

Ike's Korean Views Assailed

Stevenson's sharp criticism of Eisenhower came at the end of a day-long whistle-stop campaign across Upper New York state from Niagara Falls to Albany, and then on to Troy.

At Rochester, N. Y., today the Illinois governor also cut loose at Eisenhower, accusing him of advocating a "slick" Korean War policy which Stevenson said would lead to Munich-like appeasement in the Far East and probably touch off World War III.

In tonight's address, Stevenson said that when Eisenhower was nominated he said he was going to cast out of the Republican fold "quack doctors," "fear-mongers" and "bare-faced looters." Then, Stevenson said:

No Names Mentioned

"I mention these words because the day before yesterday, the Republican candidate announced virtuously that he was, in his words, 'leaving to others the job of mud-slinging and name-calling.'"

Stevenson said that as time went on, "the crusader who had spoken of casting out evil men began to take unto himself men so objectionable that he cannot bring himself to mention their names."

The governor himself mentioned no names in making the statement, but he went on to say that Eisenhower has "endorsed the slanderers" of Gen. George Marshall.

British Bet Taker Makes Odds Same

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP)—A British bet taker today switched his odds on the U. S. election from a slight edge from Dwight D. Eisenhower to 4 to 5 take your pick of either candidate.

Douglas Stuart, Ltd., said yesterday Eisenhower was an odds on 4 to 5 favorite but a sudden flurry of bets on Adlai Stevenson made the odds on both men the same.

Stuart will put up four pounds against five of yours on whichever man you pick.

Cost Of Living Shows Decline

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—After a six-months steady climb to a record high, the cost of living dropped two tenths of one per cent in September, the government reported today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics attributed the decline to a 1 per cent drop in the retail price of food.

The bureau's index, measuring the price of food, shelter, clothing and scores of other goods and services purchased by moderate income urban families, was 190.8 on Sept. 15. This compared with the record of 191.1 set on Aug. 15.

The bureau arrived at its index by assigning the figure 100 to the price level of 1935-39 and finding out how present prices compare with that.

Apart from food, the price of many things went up from Aug. 15 to Sept. 15. These included clothing, house furnishings, miscellaneous goods and services, fuel, electricity and rent. But these increases were not enough to off-set the drop in food prices.

The BLS "old style" index for Sept. 15 was 191.4, down an approximate one-half per cent from the preceding month. BLS publishes a "new" and "old" style index each month. The new one reflects changed spending habits of the American people, but the old one is used by most labor unions whose work contracts allow wages to rise or fall with the cost of living.

South Koreans Battle To Regain Crest Of Ridge

South Koreans, knocked off Pinpoint Hill—the ridge's crest—about dawn, battled their way back through intense Chinese Red fire five hours later.

At 10 a. m., the South Koreans held half of Pinpoint Hill and fierce hand-to-hand fighting was in progress, AP Correspondent John Randolph reported from the Central Front. The South Koreans, crawling through heavy artillery fire, opened the counterattack at 8 a. m.

Yanks' Drive Halted

Red barrages also hit and halted a U. S. Seventh Division drive on the crest of nearby Pike's Peak—last Communist stronghold on Triangle Hill, which like Sniper Ridge is a key height on the Central Front.

The Americans reached within 30 yards of the crest under heavy fire Friday night before they were forced back to previous U. S. positions on Triangle.

At Sniper Ridge it was the fifth time the Chinese had swept over the crest of Pinpoint Hill, highest position on the hill mass, since the battle began Oct. 14.

Desperate fighting also was under way at Iron Horse Mountain, less than 20 miles west of Triangle Hill. South Korea Ninth Division troops there clung to the south slope only 40 yards away from the Chinese on the north side.

Crest Is No-Man's Land

Intense Allied and Communist shelling made the crest of Iron Horse a no-man's land, the Eighth Army said.

On the Western Front, Allied troops pushed back to the top of Little Gibraltar Hill early Friday after yielding the position and some prisoners in a strong Red attack Thursday. The Communist Chinese had hit after 20 days of preliminary artillery shelling.

The U. N. commander at Little Gibraltar—scene of heavy fighting in November, 1951, by U. S. Third Division troops — said if the Red attack was a raid for prisoners, the Reds "paid heavily for the few they got."

Coal Operators Request Putnam To Overrule WSB

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP) — A major portion of the soft coal industry today formally asked Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam to upset the Wage Stabilization Board and approve the full $1.90 daily wage increase won by John L. Lewis.

Putnam immediately started examining the industry petition which was signed by Harry M. Moses, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association. A spokesman for Putnam said the economic stabilizer would have no comment on the petition today.

Lewis' soft coal miners are on a nationwide strike as a result of the wage board's decision to slice 40 cents off the $1.90 pay raise the industry agreed to grant. The board said the full amount would be inflationary.

Moses Represents Largest Unit

Moses represents northern and midwestern mine owners. He bargains for an estimated 240 million tons of annual soft coal production, the largest single combination of operators in the nation.

It was understood that Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producers Association, did not take part in the petition at this time.

Reversal Would Anger WSB

Any reversal of the wage board decision would be bound to anger board members and might well lead to mass resignations, at least of the industry members.

A reversal of the WSB to accomodate Lewis likely would furnish Republican Party campaigners with powerful ammunition, if it came before the Nov. 4 election.

Hiram S. Hall, a WSB industry member, said in a question period following a speech at Syracuse, N. Y., last night that the "nationwide coal strike will be ended shortly after the election."

Hall gave no further explanation. But he said that President Truman could give the miners their full $1.90 raise by simply removing wage-price controls from the coal industry.

Philippines Faces New Storm Peril

MANILA, Saturday, Oct. 25 (AP) — A new tropical storm, with winds up to 165-miles-an-hour, today changed course and posed a menace to the Philippines where Wednesday's typhoon took a toll of at least 443 dead. A new report today increased the missing from 217 to 367.

The Manila Weather Bureau said a U. S. Navy plane from Guam spotted the latest disturbance about 700 miles east of Samar Island, Central Philippines.

The storm veered in the past 24 hours from a north-northwest direction to west-northwest. The Weather Bureau said the storm would hit the Northern Philippines if it maintained its present course.

It was moving at a rate of 18 miles an hour.

The Philippine Red Cross received a report today from Carmarines Sur Province that 150 fishermen on 11 boats from Calabanga town were missing.

First estimates damage exceeded $40,000,000.

ADMITS HE'S EX-RED — David Zablodowsky (above), American-born publications chief of the U. N., admitted yesterday that he served a Red underground ring in 1936, but insisted he never joined the Communist Party.

Lie Denounces Sen. Eastland's Attack On U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 24 (AP)—Secretary-General Trygve Lie angrily denounced tonight what he called an unbridled attack on the U. N. by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) and said he would not "resort to lynch law and smear" in the campaign to rid the U. N. of American Reds.

Lie said he was shocked by the United States senator's charge at a New York inquiry today that Lie's handling of suspect Americans under him was lax and some were even given paid vacations by the U. N. while under investigation.

The U. N. chief executive, nettled by continuing charges that the U. N. has become a nesting place for American subversives, said he did not believe Eastland spoke for the U. S. government or even for the Senate.

Lie's reply to Eastland, made in a formal statement, was the strongest blast the U. N. chief executive ever directed at an official of any member government in the U. N.

Eastland had attacked Lie's policies earlier in the day at a Senate subcommittee inquiry into alleged American Reds among the U. N. secretariat personnel. Eastland is acting chairman of the subcommittee normally headed by Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev).

Eastland said Lie was lax in dealing with American Communists in the U.N. and that:

"In United Nations among the American employes there is the greatest concentration of Communists that this committee has ever encountered." He demanded that the U. S. Congress cleanse the U. N. of American Reds.

Served Red Underground

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—The publications chief of the United Nations finally admitted today that he served a Red underground ring in 1936, but insisted he never joined the Communist Party.

David Zablodowsky, American-born U. N. publications director, first was branded a Red in 1945, but at the time he denied he ever was a Communist or "Communist link of any sort."

Yesterday Whittaker Chambers fingered him as a prewar underground aide and 24 hours later Zablodowsky admitted as much to a Senate Internal Security subcommittee, probing subversives in the U. N.

Miami Expected To Miss Worst

MIAMI, Oct. 24 (AP) — A severe hurricane packing 165 mile an hour winds headed into the Florida Straits tonight after lashing Cuba and leaving at least 70 persons injured.

'It looks like a close brush for the southeast (Florida) coast," said Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster of the Miami Weather Bureau. "It'll be too close for comfort but we should miss the worst of it."

An 8 p. m. (EST) special Weather Bureau bulletin located the hurricane about 220 miles south of Miami. It was traveling north northeast at about 11 or 12 miles an hour.

The Weather Bureau said that unless there is a sudden change in course, the center should pass between the Southeast Florida coast and Nassau, Bahamas, Saturday.

Storm Cuts 60-Mile Swath

The hurricane emerged from the north coast of Cuba about 125 miles east southwest of Havana after beating a 60-mile wide swath through rich sugar cane and ranch land.

It may have lost some strength crossing the island, Norton said, but this is likely to be quickly regained over water, "and it will continue a very severe small hurricane.

The hurricane was one of the most powerful in the history of Cuba. Effect of the destructive winds on rural homes and crops was believed disastrous.

Heavy rains preceding the storm caused rivers to overflow and flooded low-lying areas.

Ships Blown Aground

The 10,000-ton Japanese freighter Yamakufo Maru was blown aground on Cayo Breton Reef, about 175 miles southwest of Cienfuegos but the crewmen were reported safe.

Cienguegos, 208 miles southeast of Havana, reported winds of 100 miles an hour although the center of the hurricane did not hit that city of 100,000.

Santa Isabel, in Central Cuba, reported big trees uprooted by winds of 90 miles an hour. Crop damage, aggravated by heavy rains, extended far beyond the actual path of the hurricane.

The path of the hurricane was being followed closely by radar. A Navy radar plane went out in front of the storm and the radar station at Key West plotted its progress.

Morse Says He Has Quit GOP

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 24 (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon said tonight he regarded his bolt from the candidacy of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as a resignation from the Republican Party.

Morse said that from now on he would be an independent but would call himself an independent Republican because, he said, he intended "to hold fast to the tenets of the political philosophy of Lincoln."

In a speech recorded for delivery at a Volunteers for Stevenson rally, Morse declared:

"Those tenets no longer prevail in a Republican Party dominated by reactionaries running a captive general for the presidency of the United States."

Morse announced last week end that he had been disillusioned by Eisenhower's campaign and would vote for Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee.

In tonight's speech, Morse accused Eisenhower of "stooping to any tactics" to win votes.

General Says Peace Effort Requires Trip

Places War Blame On Administration

DETROIT, Oct. 24 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower pledged tonight that he will go to Korea himself in an effort to end the war if he is elected president.

The Republican presidential candidate, in a speech prepared for delivery in Detroit, said one of the first jobs of a new administration must be to bring a close to the conflict that has been raging since June of 1950. And he declared:

"That job requires a personal trip to Korea. I shall make that trip. Only in that way could I learn how best to serve the American people in the cause of peace.

"I shall go to Korea."

Warnings Ignored

Eisenhower placed full responsibility for the war on the Truman administration. He said — without naming either the President or Secretary of State Dean Acheson—that they ignored repeated warnings and that they assured inquiring senators that the South Koreans could defend themselves alone.

This was possibly the strongest speech Eisenhower has made, although he has discussed foreign policy in major speeches and in whistle stops in all parts of the country.

He said the war was not inevitable. It resulted, the general added, "from a collapse of our political defenses."

In reviewing events leading up to the war, Eisenhower cited testimony from Congress in 1949 and he quoted from the famous report written by Lt. Gen. Albert Wedemyer in 1947, but suppressed for more than a year.

Troop Withdrawal Called Error

Eisenhower said a great error was made when American troops were pulled out of Korea. He recalled that Gen. Wedemeyer returned from the Orient in September, 1947. Eisenhwer said Wedemeyer submitted this warning in his report:

"The withdrawal of American military forces from Korea would ... result in the occupation of Southern Korea by either Soviet troops, or, as seems more likely, by the Korean military units trained under Soviet auspices in North Korea."

Eisenhower said, "that warning and his entire report were disregarded and suppressed by the administration."

He then cited from the record of the debates in Congress in June of 1949 and quoted Congressman Walter Judd, Minnesota Republican as saying in that debate:

"I think the thing necessary to give security to Korea at this stage of the game is the presence of a small American force and the knowledge on the Soviet side that attack upon it would bring trouble with us. I am convinced that if we keep even a battalion there they are not going to move. And if the battalion is not there the chances are they will move within a year."

Three Wild Highway Kidnapers Sought

ATLANTA, Oct. 24 (AP)—A hunter's report of being forced to drive three wild highway kidnapers to Atlanta today touched off a state wide search in Georgia.

The three men, who kidnaped and subsequently released 20 persons in a three-day swing through Georgia and Tennessee, are being sought by the FBI, the Georgia State Patrol and Atlanta police.

FDR's Son Defends Ike

LUFKIN, Tex., Oct. 24 (AP)—John Roosevelt said today it was tommyrot to claim that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would throw out the social advances made during the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The youngest son of the late President spoke in four East Texas cities in behalf of the candidacy of the Republican nominee for president.

U. N. Marks Birthday; Reds Boycott Memorial Session

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 24 (AP)—The United Nations observed its seventh birthday today in a familiar atmosphere of hostility, plus praise for its aims at world peace.

The Russians boycotted a special General Assembly meeting honoring those who have died in support of U. N. principles. Others of the Soviet bloc did not show up until the Assembly ended a minute of silence for the dead.

Secretary of State Acheson ripped into the deadlocked Korean truce negotiations, the prime issue between the Communist bloc and the free nations, in one of the longest speeches of his career.

Outside, Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower were among public figures who praised the United Nations' role in world affairs.

Eisenhower hailed the U. N. for springing to the aid of South Korea —an action taken on the initiative of President Truman — within two days after the Communist attack June 25, 1950.

"It is most fitting that—as a proud member of the United Nations—we Americans pledge again our strength, our fortune and our sacred honor to the end that no free nation shall ever again be destroyed upon this earth," the Republican presidential nominee said in a transcribed broadcast on a nationwide CBS hookup.

In a speech similarly transcribed, Stevenson declared the answer to world war can only be world law backed by justice and popular consent.

"We will not lose faith in the United Nations," said the Democratic presidential nominee.

Gains For Eisenhower Reported In All 12 Midwestern States

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—Gains for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower have been posted on political scoreboards in all 12 states in the hotly contested Midwest by newsmen keeping tab on the trends.

In the whole crucial farm belt, editors and poltical correspondents believe only Missouri measured up in mid-October as likely to go Democratic if the election were held at that time. Missouri has 13 electoal votes.

All the other 11 states, with 140 electoral votes—Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Ohio, Wisconsin and Gov. Adlai Steveson's home state of Illinois—were clocked as inclined or fairly certain to go Republican.

The consensus of editors taking part in a second survey for The Associated Press is that Eisenhower and the GOP have made sweeping strides, since an earlier check around Labor Day and since 1948. Four years ago President Truman pulled a surprise by picking off half of the 12 Midwestern states.

Newsmen say an assist from Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, once a bitter pre-convention political foe now an ally, has enabled Eisenhower to nose out in front of Stevenson in Illinois. The edge is skimpy, but it represents a changeover—the first for the GOP since survey soundings six or eight weeks ago. Stevenson was regarded then as having a slight margin on his home grounds.

If the estimates are correct, they mean the 572,000 margin by which Stevenson was elected governor in 1948 has melted away in the presidential race.

Previously newsmen estimated the edge in Washington and Utah had switched from Eisenhower to his Democratic opponent.

In Illinois and at other spots along the midwestern political circuit some of the Republican margins are so ragged that last minute events or a swing of previously undecided voters could make a real difference at the polling places a week from Tuesday. Either side could be helped or hurt.

Thus the Midwest is fighting territory down to the finish line.

And, as of now, editors on the scene consider Eisenhower as having something of an advantage in the midwestern skirmishing. In every state, even in Democratic Missouri, they say the voters seem to have been warming up to the general in varying degrees through September and early October.

As a result only three of the 11 states tilted toward the GOP still are classed as doubtful. These are Indiana, Michigan and teetering Illinois. In the first survey, Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin were on the doubtful list, too.

Surgical Telecasts In Color Will Reach 18,000 Physicians

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System tonight revealed plans for a closed circuit, color television program to bring surgical telecasts within the reach of 18,000 eastern physicians weekly.

The program, tentatively set for Tuesday nights, would be sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

First word came today from the ACS board of directors, which approved investigation of the plan for a series of hour-long clinical demonstrations.

The ACS recommended a $250,000 ceiling on costs.

It spoke of a 50-week period to start, one hour a week.

Later, Peter C. Goldmark, CBS-TV vice president, told newsmen that "the proposal was beyond the planning stage. We are shooting to get underway in approximately six months."

The eastern cities to be linked by the circuit, on Tuesday nights, were listed by Goldmark as follows:

South Koreans Battle To Regain Crest Of Ridge

South Koreans, knocked off Pinpoint Hill—the ridge's crest—about dawn, battled their way back through intense Chinese Red fire five hours later.

At 10 a. m., the South Koreans held half of Pinpoint Hill and fierce hand-to-hand fighting was in progress, AP Correspondent John Randolph reported from the Central Front. The South Koreans, crawling through heavy artillery fire, opened the counterattack at 8 a. m.

Yanks' Drive Halted

Red barrages also hit and halted a U. S. Seventh Division drive on the crest of nearby Pike's Peak—last Communist stronghold on Triangle Hill, which like Sniper Ridge is a key height on the Central Front.

The Americans reached within 50 yards of the crest under heavy fire Friday night before they were forced back to previous U. S. positions on Triangle.

At Sniper Ridge it was the fifth time the Chinese had swept over the crest of Pinpoint Hill, highest position on the hill mass, since the battle began Oct. 14.

Desperate fighting also was under way at Iron Horse Mountain, less than 20 miles west of Triangle Hill. South Korea Ninth Division troops there clung to the south slope only 40 yards away from the Chinese on the north side.

Crest Is No-Man's Land

Intense Allied and Communist shelling made the crest of Iron Horse a no-man's land, the Eighth Army said.

On the Western Front, Allied troops pushed back to the top of Little Gibraltar Hill early Friday after yielding the position and some prisoners in a strong Red attack Thursday. The Communist Chinese had hit after 20 days of preliminary artillery shelling.

The U. N. commander at Little Gibraltar—scene of heavy fighting in November, 1951, by U. S. Third Division troops — said if the Red attack was a raid for prisoners, the Reds "paid heavily for the few they got."

Hurricane Enters Florida Straits After Injuring At Least 70 In Cuba

Miami Expected To Miss Worst

MIAMI, Oct. 24 (AP) — A severe hurricane packing 165 mile an hour winds headed into the Florida Straits tonight after lashing Cuba and leaving at least 70 persons injured.

'It looks like a close brush for the southeast (Florida) coast," said Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster of the Miami Weather Bureau. "It'll be too close for comfort but we should miss the worst of it."

An 8 p. m. (EST) special Weather Bureau bulletin located the hurricane about 220 miles south of Miami. It was traveling north northeast at about 11 or 12 miles an hour.

The Weather Bureau said that unless there is a sudden change in course, the center should pass between the Southeast Florida coast and Nassau, Bahamas, Saturday.

Storm Cuts 60-Mile Swath

The hurricane emerged from the north coast of Cuba about 125 miles east southwest of Havana after beating a 60-mile wide swath through rich sugar cane and ranch land.

It may have lost some strength crossing the island, Norton said, but this is likely to be quickly regained over water, "and it will continue a very severe small hurricane.

The hurricane was one of the most powerful in the history of Cuba. Effect of the destructive winds on rural homes and crops was believed disastrous.

Heavy rains preceding the storm caused rivers to overflow and flooded low-lying areas.

Ships Blown Aground

The 10,000-ton Japanese freighter Yamakufo Maru was blown aground on Cayo Breton Reef, about 175 miles southwest of Cienfuegos but the crewmen were reported safe.

Cienguegos, 208 miles southeast of Havana, reported winds of 100 miles an hour although the center of the hurricane did not hit that city of 100,000.

Santa Isabel, in Central Cuba, reported big trees uprooted by winds of 90 miles an hour. Crop damage, aggravated by heavy rains, extended far beyond the actual path of the hurricane.

The path of the hurricane was being followed closely by radar. A Navy radar plane went out in front of the storm and the radar station at Key West plotted its progress.

Coal Operators Request Putnam To Overrule WSB

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP) — A major portion of the soft coal industry today formally asked Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam to upset the Wage Stabilization Board and approve the full $1.90 daily wage increase won by John L. Lewis.

Putnam immediately started examining the industry petition which was signed by Harry M. Moses, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association. A spokesman for Putnam said the economic stabilizer would have no comment on the petition today.

Lewis' soft coal miners are on a nationwide strike as a result of the wage board's decision to slice 40 cents off the $1.90 pay raise the industry agreed to grant. The board said the full amount would be inflationary.

Moses Represents Largest Unit

Moses represents northern and midwestern mine owners. He bargains for an estimated 240 million tons of annual soft coal production, the largest single combination of operators in the nation.

It was understood that Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producers Association, did not take part in the petition at this time.

Reversal Would Anger WSB

Any reversal of the wage board decision would be bound to anger board members and might well lead to mass resignations, at least of the industry members.

A reversal of the WSB to accomodate Lewis likely would furnish Republican Party campaigners with powerful ammunition, if it came before the Nov. 4 election.

Hiram S. Hall, a WSB industry member, said in a question period following a speech at Syracuse, N. Y., last night that the "nationwide coal strike will be ended shortly after the election."

Hall gave no further explanation. But he said that President Truman could give the miners their full $1.90 raise by simply removing wage-price controls from the coal industry.

Philippines Faces New Storm Peril

MANILA, Saturday, Oct. 25 (AP) — A new tropical storm, with winds up to 165-miles-an-hour, today changed course and posed a menace to the Philippines where Wednesday's typhoon took a toll of at least 443 dead. A new report today increased the missing from 217 to 367.

The Manila Weather Bureau said a U. S. Navy plane from Guam spotted the latest disturbance about 700 miles east of Samar Island, Central Philippines.

The storm veered in the past 24 hours from a north-northwest direction to west-northwest. The Weather Bureau said the storm would hit the Northern Philippines if it maintained its present course.

It was moving at a rate of 18 miles an hour.

The Philippine Red Cross received a report today from Carmarines Sur Province that 150 fishermen on 11 boats from Calabanga town were missing.

First estimates damage exceeded $40,000,000.

ADMITS HE'S EX-RED — David Zablodowsky (above), American-born publications chief of the U. N., admitted yesterday that he served a Red underground ring in 1936, but insisted he never joined the Communist Party.

Lie Denounces Sen. Eastland's Attack On U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 24 (AP)—Secretary-General Trygve Lie angrily denounced tonight what he called an unbridled attack on the U. N. by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) and said he would not "resort to lynch law and smear" in the campaign to rid the U. N. of American Reds.

Lie said he was shocked by the United States senator's charge at a New York inquiry today that Lie's handling of suspect Americans under him was lax and some were even given paid vacations by the U. N. while under investigation.

The U. N. chief executive, nettled by continuing charges that the U. N. has become a nesting place for American subversives, said he did not believe Eastland spoke for the U. S. government or even for the Senate.

Lie's reply to Eastland, made in a formal statement, was the strongest blast the U. N. chief executive ever directed at an official of any member government in the U. N.

Eastland had attacked Lie's policies earlier in the day at a Senate subcommittee inquiry into alleged American Reds among the U. N. secretariat personnel. Eastland is acting chairman of the subcommitee normally headed by Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev).

Eastland said Lie was lax in dealing with American Communists in the U.N. and that:

"In United Nations among the American employes there is the greatest concentration of Communists that this committee has ever encountered." He demanded that the U. S. Congress cleanse the U. N. of American Reds.

Served Red Underground

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—The publications chief of the United Nations finally admitted today that he served a Red underground ring in 1936, but insisted he never joined the Communist Party.

David Zablodowsky, American-born U. N. publications director, first was branded a Red in 1945, but at the time he denied he ever was a Communist or "Communist link of any sort."

Yesterday Whittaker Chambers fingered him as a prewar underground aide and 24 hours later Zablodowsky admitted as much to a Senate Internal Security subcommittee, probing subversives in the U. N.

Morse Says He Has Quit GOP

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 24 (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon said tonight he regarded his bolt from the candidacy of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as a resignation from the Republican Party.

Morse said that from now on he would be an independent but would call himself an independent Republican because, he said, he intended "to hold fast to the tenets of the political philosophy of Lincoln."

In a speech recorded for delivery at a Volunteers for Stevenson rally, Morse declared:

"Those tenets no longer prevail in a Republican Party dominated by reactionaries running a captive general for the presidency of the United States."

Morse announced last week end that he had been disillusioned by Eisenhower's campaign and would vote for Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee.

In tonight's speech, Morse accused Eisenhower of "stooping to any tactics" to win votes.

General Says Peace Effort Requires Trip

Places War Blame On Administration

DETROIT, Oct. 24 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower pledged tonight that he will go to Korea himself in an effort to end the war if he is elected president.

The Republican presidential candidate, in a speech prepared for delivery in Detroit, said one of the first jobs of a new administration must be to bring a close to the conflict that has been raging since June of 1950. And he declared:

"That job requires a personal trip to Korea. I shall make that trip. Only in that way could I learn how best to serve the American people in the cause of peace.

"I shall go to Korea."

Warnings Ignored

Eisenhower placed full responsibility for the war on the Truman administration. He said — without naming either the President or Secretary of State Dean Acheson—that they ignored repeated warnings and that they assured inquiring senators that the South Koreans could defend themselves alone.

This was possibly the strongest speech Eisenhower has made, although he has discussed foreign policy in major speeches and in whistle stops in all parts of the country.

He said the war was not inevitable. It resulted, the general added, "from a collapse of our political defenses."

In reviewing events leading up to the war, Eisenhower cited testimony from Congress in 1949 and he quoted from the famous report written by Lt. Gen. Albert Wedemyer in 1947, but suppressed for more than a year.

Troop Withdrawal Called Error

Eisenhower said a great error was made when American troops were pulled out of Korea. He recalled that Gen. Wedemeyer returned from the Orient in September, 1947. Eisenhwer said Wedemeyer submitted this warning in his report:

"The withdrawal of American military forces from Korea would ... result in the occupation of Southern Korea by either Soviet troops, or, as seems more likely, by the Korean military units trained under Soviet auspices in North Korea."

Eisenhower said, "that warning and his entire report were disregarded and suppressed by the administration."

He then cited from the record of the debates in Congress in June of 1949 and quoted Congressman Walter Judd, Minnesota Republican as saying in that debate:

"I think the thing necessary to give security to Korea at this stage of the game is the presence of a small American force and the knowledge on the Soviet side that attack upon it would bring trouble with us. I am convinced that if we keep even a battalion there they are not going to move. And if the battalion is not there the chances are they will move within a year."

Three Wild Highway Kidnapers Sought

ATLANTA, Oct. 24 (AP)—A hunter's report of being forced to drive three wild highway kidnapers to Atlanta today touched off a state wide search in Georgia.

The three men, who kidnaped and subsequently released 20 persons in a three-day swing through Georgia and Tennessee, are being sought by the FBI, the Georgia State Patrol and Atlanta police.

FDR's Son Defends Ike

LUFKIN, Tex., Oct. 24 (AP)—John Roosevelt said today it was tommyrot to claim that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would throw out the social advances made during the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The youngest son of the late President spoke in four East Texas cities in behalf of the candidacy of the Republican nominee for president.

Gains For Eisenhower Reported In All 12 Midwestern States

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—Gains for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower have been posted on political scoreboards in all 12 states in the hotly contested Midwest by newsmen keeping tab on the trends.

In the whole crucial farm belt, editors and poltical correspondents believe only Missouri measured up in mid-October as likely to go Democratic if the election were held at that time. Missouri has 13 electoal votes.

All the other 11 states, with 140 electoral votes—Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Ohio, Wisconsin and Gov. Adlai Steveson's home state of Illinois—were clocked as inclined or fairly certain to go Republican.

The consensus of editors taking part in a second survey for The Associated Press is that Eisenhower and the GOP have made sweeping strides, since an earlier check around Labor Day and since 1948. Four years ago President Truman pulled a surprise by picking off half of the 12 Midwestern states.

Newsmen say an assist from Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, once a bitter pre-convention political foe now an ally, has enabled Eisenhower to nose out in front of Stevenson in Illinois. The edge is skimpy, but it represents a changeover—the first for the GOP since survey soundings six or eight weeks ago. Stevenson was regarded then as having a slight margin on his home grounds.

If the estimates are correct, they mean the 572,000 margin by which Stevenson was elected governor in 1948 has melted away in the presidential race.

Previously newsmen estimated the edge in Washington and Utah had switched from Eisenhower to his Democratic opponent.

In Illinois and at other spots along the midwestern political circuit some of the Republican margins are so ragged that last minute events or a swing of previously undecided voters could make a real difference at the polling places a week from Tuesday. Either side could be helped or hurt.

Thus the Midwest is fighting territory down to the finish line.

And, as of now, editors on the scene consider Eisenhower as having something of an advantage in the midwestern skirmishing. In every state, even in Democratic Missouri, they say the voters seem to have been warming up to the general in varying degrees through September and early October.

As a result only three of the 11 states tilted toward the GOP still are classed as doubtful. These are Indiana, Michigan and teetering Illinois. In the first survey, Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin were on the doubtful list, too.

Surgical Telecasts In Color Will Reach 18,000 Physicians

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System tonight revealed plans for a closed circuit, color television program to bring surgical telecasts within the reach of 18,000 eastern physicians weekly.

The program, tentatively set for Tuesday nights, would be sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

First word came today from the ACS board of directors, which approved investigation of the plan for a series of hour-long clinical demonstrations.

The ACS recommended a $250,000 ceiling on costs.

It spoke of a 50-week period to start, one hour a week.

Later, Peter C. Goldmark, CBS-TV vice president, told newsmen that "the proposal was beyond the planning stage. We are shooting to get underway in approximately six months."

The eastern cities to be linked by the circuit, on Tuesday nights, were listed by Goldmark as follows:

Susan Peters, Hard Luck Film Actress, Dies

VISALIA, Calif., Oct. 24 (AP)—Susan Peters, the beautiful young actress who set Hollywood an example of courage after her promising career was blighted by a crippling injury, died last night.

Attending doctors said the physical cause was a kidney ailment arising from a paralyzing rifle wound that had bound her to a wheel chair for almost seven years.

However, Miss Peters' personal physician, Dr. Ray Manchester of nearby Exeter, believes her mental condition may have been a factor.

"She wouldn't allow anyone to help her recently," he said. "I believe she lost interest in living." He said she had been waging a fight against internal infection for years and had been "going down hill" in past months.

The 31-year-old film and stage player was considered one of Hollywood's brightest acting prospects when, on New Year's Day, 1945, tragedy struck. On a hunting trip with her husband, Actor Richard Quine, she bent over to pick up a rifle. A twig caught the trigger and the bullet struck her spinal cord.

Hospitalized for months and thereafter confined to a wheelchair, Susan refused to concede that she was through as an actress. Two years later, emoting from her wheelchair, she came back to films as the star of "Sign of the Ram."

She turned down several roles written especially for her because "They played too much on sympathy" and turned to the stage. She enjoyed a successful tour as the invalid poet, Elizabeth Barrett, in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

Fire At Gold Mine Put Out With Gold

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Oct. 24 (AP)—Fire at a gold mine was put out with gold last night.

Johannesburg firemen were called to the City Deep Mine where a carpenter's shop valued as 10,000 pounds ($28,000) was ablaze from end to end. Water from the mine hydrants was insufficient, so they pumped water from the cyanide mixing sump. Cyanide is used for the extraction of gold from crushed ore and a mine official said the sump contained quite a lot of gold.

High School Girl Kidnaped, Tortured

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24 (AP)—A 17-year-old high school girl, found half-clad in a Pershing Square restroom today, told of being kidnaped and held for 20 hours by a man who left her body covered with scratches and burns.

The girl, Joan Leila Burris of Hollydale, was dressed only in underwear and was in a semi-conscious condition when a caretaker heard her moans. Physicians said she apparently had been drugged.

Miss Burris said she was kidnaped on her way to high school yesterday by a man in a light blue sedan.

Trouble Encountered By Deep Sea Diver

LONG BEACH, Calif., Oct. 24 (AP)—Deep Sea Diver Otis Barton tried another plunge into the Pacific Ocean off San Clemente Island today but encountered trouble.

He reported to his crew on the deck of the barge Cherry Picker that a gasket leak developed when the steel diving bell, called a benthoscope, started downward.

The benthoscope was hauled back to the surface and repairs were begun.

The depth to which Barton went today was not disclosed.

U. Of Md. To Crown Homecoming Queen

The new $600,000 Memorial Chapel will be open to inspection by alumni who haven't seen the campus in some time, and the various College Park school associations have morning meetings planned with the welcome mat out.

MISS U. S. A. AND SINGER TO WED—Jackie Loughery, Brooklyn, N. Y., who was Miss United States in the recent Miss Universe contest at Long Beach, Calif., and Singer Guy Mitchell obtain a marriage license in Bakersfield, Calif. They plan to wed tomorrow in North Hollywood. He is 25 and she is 21.

Marriage Proposal Made In Police Court Is Accepted

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Oct. 24 (AP)—Harry Ridenour, 37, proposed in police court today.

He was accepted, too.

On Oct. 18, Ridenour told Magistrate Paul Ottinger, he was invited to dinner by his girl friend, Elizabeth Carbaugh.

When Harry showed up for dinner, Elizabeth wasn't there. He went looking for her and found her in a tavern with Irene Kendall.

There were some harsh words over the broken dinner date. Miss Kendall intervened and lost four front teeth in the ensuing fracas. She swore out an assault warrant against Ridenour.

Magistrate Ottinger told Ridenour today at the hearing he had no right to get tough with Miss Carbaugh for not having his dinner ready, inasmuch as she is not his wife.

"Why don't you marry her?" the Magistrate asked.

"I never thought to ask her," Ridenour said.

He turned to Elizabeth.

"Would you marry me?"

"Why, yes, Harry," she said.

Magistrate Ottinger ordered Ridenour to pay Miss Kendall $60 for dental expenses or go to jail for 60 days. Ridenour paid the $60.

Yoshida Retains Top Political Job In Japan

TOKYO, Saturday, Oct. 25 (AP)—Pro-American Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida retained Japan's top political job at the opening session of the Diet Friday and began assembling a new Cabinet today.

It was the first time in more than 50 years that a premier was named four times.

However, political observers felt that unless the 74-year-old diplomat can iron out troubles in his dominant Liberal (Conservative) Party, the new Cabinet may tumble soon after it is named.

Boy Who Impersonated Truman Is Sentenced

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 24 (AP)—A 17-year-old boy who admitted impersonating President Truman in an effort to swindle an elderly Montana woman was sentenced yesterday to an 18-month term in federal correctional institution.

Harry Manning of Basin, Wyo., was charged with impersonating a federal officer. FBI agents said he wrote a letter to the woman, an 83-year-old widow, last Aug. 23, asking $2,000 "for a boy with no arms nor no legs" and signing it "Harry S. Truman."

The letter was mailed from Plymouth, Mich. FBI Agent George Burton said Manning had gone to Plymouth after obtaining $200 from the woman earlier with a story he was a "U. S. secret ranger" and needed the money to fight communism.

Nixon To Join Ike

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 24 (AP)—An aide of Sen. Richard Nixon said today the Republican vice presidential candidate will be with Gen. Dwight Eisenhower in Boston Nov. 3 for the windup of the Republican presidential campaign.

Dulles Hits Adlai lu Hiss Episode

DALLAS, Oct. 24 (AP)—John Foster Dulles said in a statement today that Gov. Adlai Stevenson's "faith in Alger Hiss outlasted mine."

Dulles, foreign political adviser of GOP Presidential Candidate Dwight Eisenhower, referred to a speech by Stevenson in Cleveland last night. In that speech the Democratic nominee said Dulles and Eisenhower "both demonstrated a continued personal faith in Alger Hiss in circumstances which imposed on them—as circumstances never did on me—the obligation to make a smashing examination of his character and background."

Dulles, arriving here to address the Dallas Council on World Affairs, handed reporters a pencilled statement. It said "I did not even attend the meeting" of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace at which he was elected chairman and Hiss was named endowment president.

Stevenson "tries to give the impression that he and I stood alike on the Hiss matter," Dulles said, but "that is not so."

Dulles said both he and Stevenson, and many others, apparently were deceived by Hiss.

"But after August, 1948, Mr. Stevenson and I took opposite courses," his statement said. Dulles said that in that month he relieved Hiss of his duties as endowment president, and in 1949 he refused to testify as a character witness for Hiss but that Stevenson was "voluntarily a character witness for Hiss' defense."

Grammer Files New Trial Motion

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24 (AP)—George Edward Grammer today filed a motion for a new trial, pleading he was illegally convicted of first degree murder yesterday for killing his wife so he could marry a pretty United Nations secretary.

The 35-year-old New York office manager faces hanging or life imprisonment.

His motion for a new trial puts the case in the hands of Baltimore's 10 Circuit Court judges, sitting as what is called the Baltimore Supreme Bench.

Grammer was convicted of beating his wife to death with a piece of pipe on the night of Aug. 19 and trying to make it look like she died in an automobile smashup by pointing their car down a hill at the northeast edge of Baltimore.

Demos Lack Funds For Congress Candidates

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell reported today that the Democratic National Committee, with a bank balance of $130,013.59 will be unable to help Democratic candidates for the House and Senate.

He told reporters this after visiting the White House to report to President Truman on the election outlook.

The prospect for a victory for Adlai Stevenson, he said is "very encouraging."

Mitchell said, too, he was "really encouraged" by the public reaction to a fund appeal made before and after Stevenson's broadcast last night.

High School Girl Kidnaped, Tortured

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24 (AP)—A 17-year-old high school girl, found half-clad in a Pershing Square restroom today, told of being kidnaped and held for 20 hours by a man who left her body covered with scratches and burns.

The girl, Joan Leila Burris of Hollydale, was dressed only in underwear and was in a semi-conscious condition when a caretaker heard her moans. Physicians said she apparently had been drugged.

Miss Burris said she was kidnaped on her way to high school yesterday by a man in a light blue sedan.

Trouble Encountered By Deep Sea Diver

LONG BEACH, Calif., Oct. 24 (AP)—Deep Sea Diver Otis Barton tried another plunge into the Pacific Ocean off San Clemente Island today but encountered trouble.

He reported to his crew on the deck of the barge Cherry Picker that a gasket leak developed when the steel diving bell, called a bentho-scope, started downward.

The benthoscope was hauled back to the surface and repairs were begun.

The depth to which Barton went today was not disclosed.

U. Of Md. To Crown Homecoming Queen

The annual ceremony is one of many planned by way of putting on a show for returning grads.

The new $600,000 Memorial Chapel will be open to inspection by alumni who haven't seen the campus in some time, and the various College Park school associations have morning meetings planned with the welcome mat out.

Marriage Proposal Made In Police Court Is Accepted

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Oct. 24 (AP)—Harry Ridenour, 37, proposed in police court today.

He was accepted, too.

On Oct. 18, Ridenour told Magistrate Paul Ottinger, he was invited to dinner by his girl friend, Elizabeth Carbaugh.

When Harry showed up for dinner, Elizabeth wasn't there. He went looking for her and found her in a tavern with Irene Kendall.

There were some harsh words over the broken dinner date. Miss Kendall intervened and lost four front teeth in the ensuing fracas. She swore out an assault warrant against Ridenour.

Magistrate Ottinger told Ridenour today at the hearing he had no right to get tough with Miss Carbaugh for not having his dinner ready, inasmuch as she is not his wife.

"Why don't you marry her?" the Magistrate asked.

"I never thought to ask her," Ridenour said.

He turned to Elizabeth.

"Would you marry me?"

"Why, yes, Harry," she said.

Magistrate Ottinger ordered Ridenour to pay Miss Kendall $60 for dental expenses or go to jail for 60 days. Ridenour paid the $60.

Yoshida Retains Top Political Job In Japan

TOKYO, Saturday, Oct. 25 (AP)—Pro-American Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida retained Japan's top political job at the opening session of the Diet Friday and began assembling a new Cabinet today.

It was the first time in more than 50 years that a premier was named four times.

However, political observers felt that unless the 74-year-old diplomat can iron out troubles in his dominant Liberal (Conservative) Party, the new Cabinet may tumble soon after it is named.

Boy Who Impersonated Truman Is Sentenced

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 24 (AP)—A 17-year-old boy who admitted impersonating President Truman in an effort to swindle an elderly Montana woman was sentenced yesterday to an 18-month term in federal correctional institution.

Harry Manning of Basin, Wyo., was charged with impersonating a federal officer. FBI agents said he wrote a letter to the woman, an 83-year-old widow, last Aug. 23, asking $2,000 "for a boy with no arms nor no legs" and signing it "Harry S. Truman."

The letter was mailed from Plymouth, Mich. FBI Agent George Burton said Manning had gone to Plymouth after obtaining $200 from the woman earlier with a story he was a "U. S. secret ranger" and needed the money to fight communism.

Nixon To Join Ike

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 24 (AP)—An aide of Sen. Richard Nixon said today the Republican vice presidential candidate will be with Gen. Dwight Eisenhower in Boston Nov. 3 for the windup of the Republican presidential campaign.

Dulles Hits Adlai lu Hiss Episode

DALLAS, Oct. 24 (AP)—John Foster Dulles said in a statement today that Gov. Adlai Stevenson's "faith in Alger Hiss outlasted mine."

Dulles, foreign political adviser of GOP Presidential Candidate Dwight Eisenhower, referred to a speech by Stevenson in Cleveland last night. In that speech the Democratic nominee said Dulles and Eisenhower "both demonstrated a continued personal faith in Alger Hiss in circumstances which imposed on them—as circumstances never did on me—the obligation to make a smashing examination of his character and background."

Dulles, arriving here to address the Dallas Council on World Affairs, handed reporters a pencilled statement. It said "I did not even attend the meeting" of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace at which he was elected chairman and Hiss was named endowment president.

Stevenson "tries to give the impression that he and I stood alike on the Hiss matter," Dulles said, but "that is not so."

Dulles said both he and Stevenson, and many others, apparently were deceived by Hiss.

"But after August, 1948, Mr. Stevenson and I took opposite courses," his statement said. Dulles said that in that month he relieved Hiss of his duties as endowment president, and in 1949 he refused to testify as a character witness for Hiss but that Stevenson was "voluntarily a character witness for Hiss' defense."

Grammer Files New Trial Motion

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24 (AP)—George Edward Grammer today filed a motion for a new trial, pleading he was illegally convicted of first degree murder yesterday for killing his wife so he could marry a pretty United Nations secretary.

The 35-year-old New York office manager faces hanging or life imprisonment.

His motion for a new trial puts the case in the hands of Baltimore's 10 Circuit Court judges, sitting as what is called the Baltimore Supreme Bench.

Grammer was convicted of beating his wife to death with a piece of pipe on the night of Aug. 19 and trying to make it look like she died in an automobile smashup by pointing their car down a hill at the northeast edge of Baltimore.

Demos Lack Funds For Congress Candidates

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell reported today that the Democratic National Committee, with a bank balance of $130,013.59 will be unable to help Democratic candidates for the House and Senate.

He told reporters this after visiting the White House to report to President Truman on the election outlook.

The prospect for a victory for Adlai Stevenson, he said is "very encouraging."

Mitchell said, too, he was "really encouraged" by the public reaction to a fund appeal made before and after Stevenson's broadcast last night.

Israel And Arab States

Some four years have passed since the state of Israel was set up in the Palestine area, but little progress has been made toward establishing normal relations between the new Jewish nation and its Arab neighbors. No formal peace has been concluded among belligerents in the Arab-Jewish war of 1948-49, and many Arabs still regard Israel as a trespasser on their lands.

The problem of Arab-Israel relations is among the most intricate and pervasive in the generally unstable Middle East. Arab-Israeli mistrust has a direct or indirect bearing on many other important problems in this region, which is vital to Western defense because of its oil, its communications, and its proximity to the Soviet Union. And unlike other Middle Eastern issues, Arab-Israel rivalry has a reflection in United States domestic politics.

Since mid-1949 an uneasy truce has been maintained between Israel and its Arab neighbors on the basis of bilateral armistice agreements. Implementation of the armistice is subject to UN supervision, backed up by the joint Anglo-American-French declaration of May 1950 opposing further use of force among the states concerned. Although the armistice system provides various safeguards against renewal of hostilities, formal settlement of non-military issues of the Palestine war is contingent on further political negotiations.

Responsibility for helping Israel and the Arab states achieve a final settlement of their political differences was assigned by the UN General Assembly in December 1948 to a special Conciliation Commission for Palestine, composed of the United States, France, and Turkey. While the UN commission has done some useful groundwork, it has not succeeded in resolving any major issue among the former belligerents.

Israel itself has long wished to engage in direct negotiations with the Arab states—preferably on a bilateral basis. But a majority of Arab League states have frowned upon conclusion of a separate peace by any Arab government. In requesting a discussion of the work of the Conciliation Commission at the current UN General Assembly session in New York, the Arab states have jointly asserted that it is useless to hope for a settlement outside the UN.

From the beginning, the big issue balking conciliation efforts has been the status of Palestine Arabs who took refuge during the war in Arab controlled territory.

Reasons for the Arab exodus from Palestine still are bitterly disputed among the parties themselves. But as the State Department recently stated, "The fact remains that a million Jewish people have entered Palestine since 1947, and that nearly a million Arabs have left their former homes in Palestine, and that virtually none of the Arabs have been compensated for their property."

The Arab states always have insisted on absolute priority for repatriation or compensation of the Palestine refugees, while the Israelis have refused (1) to permit the return of any appreciable number of refugees or (2) to pay property compensation except as part of a final, overall settlement. UN efforts to promote refugee resettlement projects in Arab states have made slow progress in view of Arab unwillingness to risk losing refugee rights to repatriation and compensation as affirmed in General Assembly resolutions dating back to 1948.

Another unresolved issue is final adjustment of the de facto armistice boundaries. Israel as a result of the war controls some three-fourths of the territory of the old Palestine mandate, including most of Jerusalem. Of the remaining fragments of Arab Palestine, the small Gaza strip is under Egyptian occupation and the larger east-central district has been formally annexed by Jordan. In the absence of a refugee settlement, the Arab states insist that Israel's boundaries should conform to those set forth in the original UN plan for partitioning Palestine, a plan the Arabs did not accept back in 1947 and present enforcement of which would reduce Israeli territory by some 30 per cent. The Israelis themselves tend to claim up to the maximum land in demilitarized zones and will not agree to any boundary adjustments except in the context of direct negotiations for a final peace settlement.

Fooling Russian People

Are the Russian people fooled by their government's propaganda? If they were all genuinely fooled, would the Kremlin continue to maintain the world's largest and most active secret police force?

Fresh testimony on this point has just been provided by two former Red army soldiers, aged 23 and 24, who got away and enlisted in the U. S. Army. Even Russia's anti-American propaganda, they report, shows the Russian people how free America is compared to Russia.

Russian domestic propaganda plays up and exaggerates strikes and other evidence of domestic difficulties in the United States, especially when such activities are engineered by Communists. It also plays up whatever political criticisms of American foreign and domestic policy happen to fit in with Communist purposes at the moment.

When the Russian people read about that, it tells them that the freedom to strike, the freedom to oppose the party in power, the freedom to criticize, all exist in the United States.

On many matters, many Russians are fooled because they are permitted to hear only one side. The "conclusive proof" of germ warfare and other "American barbarities" in Korea is constantly dinned at them. They have no way of checking on lies about wages and working conditions in American factories. And if accounts of American working men who own their own cars reach them, they cannot bring themselves to believe anything so incredible.

But Russians still can think—as long as they keep their thoughts to themselves. The power to reason is the bugaboo of tyrants, and even tyrants cannot destroy it.

Jumping To Conclusions

Physicians are accused of being skeptical of new remedies, especially those that stem from bathroom chemists and other would-be authorities. In the vast majority these concoctions had worked on only one individual but the inventor believed that the product "should revolutionize the practice of medicine." In most instances it is a matter of coming to a broad conclusion from a single observation.

We have received hundreds of letters from our readers describing various pet remedies. They include prescriptions, for the treatment of psoriasis, wounds, infections, baldness, bedsores, warts, and arthritis which have been handed down from one generation to another. Others are patent medicines that friends or acquaintances recommend.

Drawing conclusions from too little evidence also applies to other phases of medicine. Grandmother is convinced that little Bobby has worms because "Sally Jane also acted that way when she was small and had pinworms." Another person advises a neighbor that a youngster with appendicitis does not need surgery because "I had the same symptoms when I was a kid and got along without operation."

It is not always the novice, however, who behaves this way. Even physicians have been known to make mistakes along this line. Doctors Laurence E. Hines and Donald L. Kessler reported an example in a recent issue of Surgery, Gynecology and Obstetrics.

In a staff conference a rare case of giant hives of the brain was presented by a member of the staff. The patient was a man who was given 300,000 units of penicillin after he cut his left hand in an accident. Six days later a convulsion occurred and the man was admitted to a hospital in a distant city. He apparently recovered but shortly thereafter developed backache and "slight" reflex changes. His history disclosed that one year previously he had encountered a bout of hives after the use of penicillin tablets. His reporting physician reasoned that the convulsion and other symptoms were on an allergic basis and that if hives of the skin had followed the use of penicillin before why not hives of the brain on this occasion.

When the patient was presented at the staff conference another physician recognized him as one of a family of epileptics; furthermore, he had seen the chap in a seizure on one of the neighborhood streets. The ensuing cross-examination made the subject angry because his secret was revealed; he had epilepsy and not that "rare" condition, hives of the brain. Later the man suffered another convulsion while riding in a taxi but this time he had not been given penicillin nor did he encounter hives. Sometimes it pays to be skeptical.

POTENTIAL CANCER

J. Z. writes: What is meant by precancerous lesion?

REPLY

Any abnormality that may develop into a malignancy. The list includes white spots of mucous membranes, especially of the mouth; scaly, itching patches on the skin, particularly of the face; sores in the mouth that are irritated continuously by jagged teeth or poorly fitted dentures; dark colored moles that are being irritated, and neglected birth injuries of the uterus. Attention to such lesions will safeguard the individual.

BLOOD NOT REJUVENATOR

REPLY

Only if the oldster is hemorrhaging or in shock and in need of transfusions. Blood cells are shortlived and disintegrate after they die. These cells are no different in old and young men and, in this respect, there is no such thing as old or young blood. The same can be said of the serum in which the cells float. It is rich in chemicals which are used by the recipient as needed.

SPASTIC COLON

D. K, writes: Is a spastic bowel a lifetime handicap?

REPLY

The bowel has the ability to go into spasm at any time but this does not mean that the condition will be disabling. Some individuals have trouble along this line for a few hours or weeks without recurrence. Others are bothered periodically until they learn to control their hurry-worry attitude.

PIGMENTED ERUPTION

M. G. writes: I have had a skin rash on my legs for five years and it is called Schamberg's disease. Can you explain this condition?

REPLY

In this eruption the discoloration of the skin of the ankles and lower legs results from deposits of blood pigments. There is no cure but the discoloration has a tendency to fade in time.

WSB's Veto Of Mine Workers' Wage Hike May Backfire On Democrats At Election; U. S.-Britain Split May Develop At Next NATO Conference

WASHINGTON — The Wage Stabilization Board's veto of the mine workers' wage boost, thus precipitating a coal strike on the eve of the election, may cause a serious political backfire against the Democrats on November 4.

Preliminary reports indicate that the miners are up in arms in the key states of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Illinois. They are sore at the government, since the mine owners had already come to terms, and it was the government that upset the applecart.

Yet the man who stiffened the wage board's backbone is a loyal Democrat — Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam, appointed through ex-Democratic Chairman Frank McKinney. He sent a confidential letter to Archibald Cox, the board's chairman, urging him to "adhere strictly" to the government's stabilization standards.

By these standards, the wage increase promised by the mine owners was too high. Putnam has disregarded these standards in past disputes, but this time called upon Cox to hold the line regarding the mine workers' case.

What Putnam apparently feared was the accusation that the administration was buying the miners' vote by giving them a full increase on the eve of elections.

The showdown won't come until the North Atlantic Treaty nations meet in Paris in December, but Britain is looking for a cheaper way to defend Europe, based on atomic power.

The British want to reshuffle European defense plans, slacken the rearmament pace and fall back on America's atomic arsenal. This would require a free exchange of atomic information among the western allies.

However, Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has advised the British and French privately that the most they can expect from the United States is data on how many atomic bombs and other weapons would be available for Europe's defense in case of an attack.

The British are bargaining for an exchange of technical information, however, on the grounds that their scientists are ahead of our own in some phases of atomic research. Trading atomic secrets, they claim, would benefit both countries.

What the British will propose at the NATO meeting in December is to lower the present goal of a 96-division European army by 1955.

They are already arguing behind the scenes that the economic drain is too great and the rearmament load must be lightened. They claim the danger of a Soviet attack has diminished in the past year anyhow.

This is in the face of an urgent warning from Gen. Mathew Ridgway that the European army is dangerously weak and must be built up more rapidly. General Bradley also has warned the British and French that the defense effort cannot be relaxed, and must be based on Russian capabilities, rather than any estimate of the Kremlin's intentions.

The result may be a serious split between the United States and Britain at the forthcoming, crucial NATO conference.

Mayor John Hynes of Boston has sent out speeches to 988 fellow mayors, who have promised to campaign for Stevenson in their towns.... The League of Women Voters has had numerous requests from people who want to know how they can vote for Eisenhower, but not Nixon ....The Pennsylvania Power Company gave its employes time off with pay to attend a political rally for Senator Nixon... Jay Franklin, who helped write Truman's whistle-stop speeches in 1948 is now working hard for Eisenhower....Suzanne La Follette of Wisconsin has been helping Senator McCarthy.

Two strong prospects for the cabinet, in case Stevenson is elected are: crime-busting Senator Kefauver as attorney general, and Secretary of the Air Force Finletter as secretary of Defense....The Republican National Committee has given up all hope of re-electing Senator Cain of Washington, and has refused to send him any more campaign money. The committee is also holding back on Senator Lodge of Massachusetts. All other GOP senatorial candidates have received a flat $5,000, but Lodge so far has been limited to only $2,500 .... Governor Stevenson has been closeting himself alone in his office until 3 a. m. writing speeches. It's one thing that has slowed his campaign .... The Senate Elections Committee will try to total up the stupendous cost of the 1952 campaign. Questionnaires are being sent out to hundreds of Democratic and Republican campaign committees, demanding a full financial accounting .... Before-and-after department: GOP Sen. Bill Jenner of Indiana now complains that it is a "smear" to call him an isolationist. However, in a Senate speech he boasted he was proud to be known as an isolationist; also told a reporter that Eisenhower had espoused everything he (Jenner) was against.

Few people realize it but General MacArthur's name will appear on the ballot for president in about six states as candidate of the Christian Nationalist party, backed by Gerald L. K. Smith.

These states are Arkansas, Washington, Texas, Missouri and Tennessee, with a provision for a write-in vote on the California ballot.

Actually MacArthur has not asked that his name be placed on the ballot, but neither has he taken steps to remove it. Thus C. G. Hall, Arkansas secretary of state, wrote MacArthur asking if he wanted his name on the ballot, but got no reply. So MacArthur's name remains. As Hall explains it:

"The Christian Nationalist party will appear on the ballot. I did write to General MacArthur, but received no answer to my letter. The Arkansas ballot has certified from this office to the counties on Oct. 16."

Top GOP strategists say that this is silent revenge on the part of MacArthur against his old friend Eisenhower. For, in at least three states where the voting may be close — California, Texas and Missouri — MacArthur's following could spell the difference between victory or defeat for Eisenhower.

That is why friends of Eisenhower went to Gerald L. K. Smith, not long ago to urge that MacArthur's name be withdrawn from the ticket, and promised that, if so, Ike would call on his old commander and patch up their differences.

The Anatomy Of Patriotism

Governor Adlai Stevenson, speaking before veterans who had risked their lives for their country, said:

"Now it seems to me that true patriotism is based on tolerance and a large measure of humility."

That, of course, is a private definition of an emotion and is unrelated to the subject. Patriotism is love of country. And love of country forbids tolerance of traitors, recognition of the right of anyone to betray our country, to sell her secrets to a foreign foe. No one can simultaneously be a patriot and a defender of Alger Hiss, of the Rosenbergs, of the Harold Ware cell, of the New York Eleven and the Hollywood Ten. It is impossible to be a patriot and a Communist or a friend of the Communists at the same time.

The word, humanity, is very broad and includes all these categories. It includes the saintly and the evil and the rest of us who are in between.

Further, Stevenson said to these same veterans:

"Now what can we say, too, for the man who proclaims himself a patriot—and then for political or for personal reasons attacks the patriotism of faithful public servants? I give you, if I may, as a shocking example the attacks which have been made on the loyalty and the motives of our great war-time chief of staff, General Marshall. To me, this is the type of 'patriotism' which is, in Dr. Johnson's phrase, the last refuge of scoundrels."

Does this mean that if a public servant has made grievous errors, costing to date 121,000 American casualties, we are to say nothing about it because he is a "faithful public servant?" No one has questioned General Marshall's fidelity in the sense that one questions Alger Hiss' fidelity, but General George Marshall is responsible for a series of blunders which gave Soviet Russia the opportunity to conquer China and which brought on the Korean War. He could have accomplished the same result with the very best of intentions, as he could have saved us the humiliations we have suffered in Asia. Millions of human beings have been killed in wars and driven destitute by the best intention of politicians, statesmen, and even philosophers. It is not a question of the intention of public men, but their judgment, their wisdom, their capacity to stand firm in the face of pressures.

To quote Dr. Samuel Johnson is easy; the quotation appears in many reference books and was originally written for his dictionary which is never used anymore. He was a garrulous gentleman whose writings were never as worthy as his conversation which was full of quips and wisecracks. We know more about him from his admirer, James Boswell, who recorded his witticisms, than from his own works which were unusually dull. Johnson is a fitting hero to Stevenson who fills his serious speeches with the light touch that diverts from the main issue.

Patriotism cannot be described as "the last refuge of scoundrels," for it is a noble attribute, an expression of love and gratitude. Patriotism is the cement which binds a people into a unity that sustains a country. To be a patriot of this country is to pay homage to that sanctuary of human liberty in which some 50 races of man have taken refuge and where they found the richest of all gifts, human liberty.

Patriotism requires eternal vigilance to keep our country strong and pure and sure. It is patriotism that impels men to put themselves on the firing line of public opinion to drive Communists out of our government, to force congressional committees to make investigations into the infiltration of our government by Stalin's agents. It is patriotism that drives men and women to testify under oath concerning this evil world conspiracy which often bring upon them the wrath even of those whom they are defending. To be silent in the face of danger can be unpatriotic.

To denounce such men, even by implication or by innuendo, is to fail to realize the damage that has been done to our country since 1934 by those who set out to conquer this country by the corruption of the spirit of our people. That they have not succeeded is due not to easy-going, jesting politicians, but to those patriots who never failed to put America first in their hearts and interests.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—It is much easier to predict the consequences of the coming election than it is to predict which candidate will win.

Judging by the way some people are reacting to the campagn itself, there is little realization that, if Governor Stevenson wins on November 4, the repercussions will be felt not only in the United States but throughout the world. Internal friction will increase and Europe will get less aid.

For if, after 20 years of "leftish" rule and gradual confiscation of the earnings of American taxpayers, a majority of the voters actually prefer more and more confiscation, then the conservative coalition in Congress of Republicans and Democrats will be forced to make a stand against such confiscation, and that will mean a drastic cut in money for Europe. Four years of political chaos would lie ahead.

With Reuther and Murray of the CIO in the saddle and with labor unions able to influence use of the executive power, an era of mutual suspicion in the industrial world and labor strife unparalleled in our history may be expected. When one side gets possession completely of such immense power, friction is engendered that is not soon overcome. Governor Stevenson has revealed in his recent speeches his surrender to labor union philosophy. His most effective support is coming through union campaigning and union-collected money.

The rebellious attitude of the South toward Trumanism which has been manifested in the campaign may not be enough to swing many of the South's electoral votes, but, if Stevenson is elected, the nation will see a much more determined Southern bloc in Congress than it has ever seen before. Joined with such a bloc will be the Northern Republicans who are conservatives.

Those Republicans, moreover, who are elected in the North on a conservative record this time will be able to point to the defeat of their fellow Republicans who have "middle of the road" or on the so-called "liberal" side as proof that the Republican party must go more to the "right." The election of Senators McCarthy and Jenner will mean that other members of Congress will see greater opportunities for political opposition by following the tactics of the Wisconsin and Indiana senators than by following the moderate course they have pursued in the past.

So far as "witch hunts" and "smears" are concerned, what has happened to date will seem tame by comparson because President Truman by his campaign technique will have convinced many a Republican that it pays to smear and to utter innuendoes. Minority members of congressional communities will be stimulated to more and more crusades. The Truman style of campaigning will appear to have gone over big in the political world if Governor Stevenson wins as a result of what the President has been doing on the stump.

The battle between the coalition in Congress and Stevenson can mean four years of frustrated and stalemated government. If Stevenson is elected, appropriations for Europe would be cut down materially because the coalition will insist on it. As for "isolationism," the country has never seen the type of debate that will come if the "left wing" continues in the saddle in the executive branch. For there are many conservative Republicans and Democrats who know what really can be done politically with the foreign-spending issue and with the unequal burden being borne by American manpower in the UN if political passions are really turned on. The battle for the 1954 Congress will be the battle of the century.

Bitterest of all will be the fight between the "left wing" and the "right wing" on economic issues. The question will arise as to how far the socialistic and "left wing" advisers of Stevenson are going to control his recommendations to Congress and his appointments to office. The fact is some of Stevenson's most influential advisers come from the so-called "non-Communist left" which denounces communism but leans toward state socialism.

What will happen if General Eisenhower is elected? His influence in the Republican party will be so great that people who have been at the extreme "right" will view with open minds any proposals for progressive legislation—mostly because they will be assured that biased "intellectuals" will not be appointed to twist the words of any law that is passed.

The Southern conservatives will follow Eisenhower's leadership.

A working majority in favor of sensible programs of aid to Europe will be assured.

In short, the prospect under Eisenhower is for a period of healing and constructive legislation — a period of fairness in administrative agencies and fairness in adjusting the relations between the minority and the majority which is really the art of good government. Only in that way can basic economic issues be resolved.

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON—A partial answer to the furore over education and training of South Koreans to replace Americans and other UN fighting troops is given by "School Life," a government publication.

The magazine does not mention GOP charges that South Koreans are being ignored as material for an all-South Korean army to fight the Reds.

However, the publication points out Koreans are being trained, in six weeks, on how to speak English. The Army Signal Corps is teaching the ROKs the A, B. C's with the use of a talking movie.

The subjects discussed were the atom bomb, WACs in the Korean army and American movies.

One American Army officer pointed out that the evidence of the training is that 14 Korean army officers "can now read American military manuals."

If Gen. Dwight Eisenhower wins the Presidential race, there is a good chance that he will offer an attractive job to young, handsome William P. Rogers, the Senate counsel who handled the sensational Howard Hughes and Benny Meyers probes.

Rogers, a former assistant to Gov. Thomas Dewey when the latter was New York district attorney, has been one of the masterminds behind the GOP campaign scenes.

It was he who coached pro-Eisenhower witnesses in their testimony during the Taft-Ike contests over delegates just before the Republican National convention. Rogers helped them write their statements and was chief strategist on the working level Ike's triumph in the contests paved the way for his nomination.

Although Rogers no longer is with the Senate investigating committee with which he won fame, he is well known in Washington where it seems only his own refusal would keep him from an attractive berth in an Eisenhower administration.

Major shifts are taking place in the nation's atomic policy. America's strategical atomic information soon will be shared with United States allies.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, returned from Europe with a warning that it will be in America's best interest to share its atomic secrets with other NATO members. Rep. Carl T. Durham (D), North Carolina, immediately declared that the matter must get top priority when Congress meets again.

Besides its military uses, the atom soon may be assigned to civilian work. Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Gordon Dean has said that the United States soon may have all the A-weapons it needs. This means channeling of nuclear energy into civilian projects in the not distant future.

Research is now being carried out by the Air Force and a number of manufacturers on the effectiveness of glass instead of aluminum for the outercovering of airplanes.

Designers have run into a good bit of trouble with various metals on planes that are planned to operate for long periods in the supersonic speed range. The heat and friction which develops intensified the various weaknesses in the metals and often causes disintegration of the surface thus affected.

It is believed in some quarters that this may have taken place when several high-speed jets recently disintegratd in mid-air.

So the plane of the future may have a glass fuselage, wings and rudder, held together by glass rivets, although there would probably be lightweight titanium and stainless steel ribs and supports.

Some think this type of glass plane could safely operate for long periods of time at supersonic speeds.

Oily To Vote

Last time Texas pawned its southern accent was in 1928. But it kept the ticket for it.

Twenty-four years later it may go the way of all mavericks. Ike will bring Texas into the fold if he can find the dotted line.

That line is three miles out in the Gulf of Mexico. Inside it is the tidelands oil claimed by Texas wildcatters. And by U. S. wildcatfishes.

In the waters of the earth, the waters above the earth and the waters beneath the earth—there is plenty of oil.

Texas claims the oil is upon the waters because of a leak in a hot pipe-line.

The government claims it by the right of eminent domain. Which means the good of the many. Plus five per cent for the right contacts.

The Lone Spangle State will go as Republican as Abe's high hat if Eisenhower gives it Riparian rights to the Pelagic pools. And Ike is promising more things than a sailor on a Times Square telephone.

Israel And Arab States

Some four years have passed since the state of Israel was set up in the Palestine area, but little progress has been made toward establishing normal relations between the new Jewish nation and its Arab neighbors. No formal peace has been concluded among belligerents in the Arab-Jewish war of 1948-49, and many Arabs still regard Israel as a trespasser on their lands.

The problem of Arab-Israel relations is among the most intricate and pervasive in the generally unstable Middle East. Arab-Israeli mistrust has a direct or indirect bearing on many other important problems in this region, which is vital to Western defense because of its oil, its communications, and its proximity to the Soviet Union. And unlike other Middle Eastern issues, Arab-Israel rivalry has a reflection in United States domestic politics.

Since mid-1949 an uneasy truce has been maintained between Israel and its Arab neighbors on the basis of bilateral armistice agreements. Implementation of the armistice is subject to UN supervision, backed up by the joint Anglo-American-French declaration of May 1950 opposing further use of force among the states concerned. Although the armistice system provides various safeguards against renewal of hostilities, formal settlement of non-military issues of the Palestine war is contingent on further political negotiations.

Responsibility for helping Israel and the Arab states achieve a final settlement of their political differences was assigned by the UN General Assembly in December 1948 to a special Conciliation Commission for Palestine, composed of the United States, France, and Turkey. While the UN commission has done some useful groundwork, it has not succeeded in resolving any major issue among the former belligerents.

Israel itself has long wished to engage in direct negotiations with the Arab states—preferably on a bilateral basis. But a majority of Arab League states have frowned upon conclusion of a separate peace by any Arab government. In requesting a discussion of the work of the Conciliation Commission at the current UN General Assembly session in New York, the Arab states have jointly asserted that it is useless to hope for a settlement outside the UN.

From the beginning, the big issue balking conciliation efforts has been the status of Palestine Arabs who took refuge during the war in Arab controlled territory.

Reasons for the Arab exodus from Palestine still are bitterly disputed among the parties themselves. But as the State Department recently stated, "The fact remains that a million Jewish people have entered Palestine since 1947, and that nearly a million Arabs have left their former homes in Palestine, and that virtually none of the Arabs have been compensated for their property."

The Arab states always have insisted on absolute priority for repatriation or compensation of the Palestine refugees, while the Israelis have refused (1) to permit the return of any appreciable number of refugees or (2) to pay property compensation except as part of a final, overall settlement. UN efforts to promote refugee resettlement projects in Arab states have made slow progress in view of Arab unwillingness to risk losing refugee rights to repatriation and compensation as affirmed in General Assembly resolutions dating back to 1948.

Another unresolved issue is final adjustment of the de facto armistice boundaries. Israel as a result of the war controls some three-fourths of the territory of the old Palestine mandate, including most of Jerusalem. Of the remaining fragments of Arab Palestine, the small Gaza strip is under Egyptian occupation and the larger east-central district has been formally annexed by Jordan. In the absence of a refugee settlement, the Arab states insist that Israel's boundaries should conform to those set forth in the original UN plan for partitioning Palestine, a plan the Arabs did not accept back in 1947 and present enforcement of which would reduce Israeli territory by some 30 per cent. The Israelis themselves tend to claim up to the maximum land in demilitarized zones and will not agree to any boundary adjustments except in the context of direct negotiations for a final peace settlement.

Fooling Russian People

Are the Russian people fooled by their government's propaganda? If they were all genuinely fooled, would the Kremlin continue to maintain the world's largest and most active secret police force?

Fresh testimony on this point has just been provided by two former Red army soldiers, aged 23 and 24, who got away and enlisted in the U. S. Army. Even Russia's anti-American propaganda, they report, shows the Russian people how free America is compared to Russia.

Russian domestic propaganda plays up and exaggerates strikes and other evidence of domestic difficulties in the United States, especially when such activities are engineered by Communists. It also plays up whatever political criticisms of American foreign and domestic policy happen to fit in with Communist purposes at the moment.

When the Russian people read about that, it tells them that the freedom to strike, the freedom to oppose the party in power, the freedom to criticize, all exist in the United States.

On many matters, many Russians are fooled because they are permitted to hear only one side. The "conclusive proof" of germ warfare and other "American barbarities" in Korea is constantly dinned at them. They have no way of checking on lies about wages and working conditions in American factories. And if accounts of American working men who own their own cars reach them, they cannot bring themselves to believe anything so incredible.

But Russians still can think—as long as they keep their thoughts to themselves. The power to reason is the bugaboo of tyrants, and even tyrants cannot destroy it.

Jumping To Conclusions

Physicians are accused of being skeptical of new remedies, especially those that stem from bathroom chemists and other would-be authorities. In the vast majority, these concoctions had worked on only one individual but the inventor believed that the product "should revolutionize the practice of medicine." In most instances it is a matter of coming to a broad conclusion from a single observation.

We have received hundreds of letters from our readers describing various pet remedies. They include prescriptions, for the treatment of psoriasis, wounds, infections, baldness, bedsores, warts, and arthritis which have been handed down from one generation to another. Others are patent medicines that friends or acquaintances recommend.

Drawing conclusions from too little evidence also applies to other phases of medicine. Grandmother is convinced that little Bobby has worms because "Sally Jane also acted that way when she was small and had pinworms." Another person advises a neighbor that a youngster with appendicitis does not need surgery because "I had the same symptoms when I was a kid and got along without operation."

It is not always the novice, however, who behaves this way. Even physicians have been known to make mistakes along this line. Doctors Laurence E. Hines and Donald L. Kessler reported an example in a recent issue of Surgery, Gynecology and Obstetrics.

In a staff conference a rare case of giant hives of the brain was presented by a member of the staff. The patient was a man who was given 300,000 units of penicillin after he cut his left hand in an accident. Six days later a convulsion occurred and the man was admitted to a hospital in a distant city. He apparently recovered but shortly thereafter developed backache and "slight" reflex changes. His history disclosed that one year previously he had encountered a bout of hives after the use of penicillin tablets. His reporting physician reasoned that the convulsion and other symptoms were on an allergic basis and that if hives of the skin had followed the use of penicillin before why not hives of the brain on this occasion.

When the patient was presented at the staff conference another physician recognized him as one of a family of epileptics; furthermore, he had seen the chap in a seizure on one of the neighborhood streets. The ensuing cross-examination made the subject angry because his secret was revealed; he had epilepsy and not that "rare" condition, hives of the brain. Later the man suffered another convulsion while riding in a taxi but this time he had not been given penicillin nor did he encounter hives. Sometimes it pays to be skeptical.

POTENTIAL CANCER

J. Z. writes: What is meant by precancerous lesion?

REPLY

Any abnormality that may develop into a malignancy. The list includes white spots of mucous membranes, especially of the mouth; scaly, itching patches on the skin, particularly of the face; sores in the mouth that are irritated continuously by jagged teeth or poorly fitted dentures; dark colored moles that are being irritated, and neglected birth injuries of the uterus. Attention to such lesions will safeguard the individual.

BLOOD NOT REJUVENATOR

L. W. writes: Would blood transfusions from young people help old people live longer?

REPLY

Only if the oldster is hemorrhaging or in shock and in need of transfusions. Blood cells are shortlived and disintegrate after they die. These cells are no different in old and young men and, in this respect, there is no such thing as old or young blood. The same can be said of the serum in which the cells float. It is rich in chemicals which are used by the recipient as needed.

SPASTIC COLON

D. K. writes: Is a spastic bowel a lifetime handicap?

REPLY

The bowel has the ability to go into spasm at any time but this does not mean that the condition will be disabling. Some individuals have trouble along this line for a few hours or weeks without recurrence. Others are bothered periodically until they learn to control their hurry-worry attitude.

PIGMENTED ERUPTION

M. G. writes: I have had a skin rash on my legs for five years and it is called Schamberg's disease. Can you explain this condition?

REPLY

In this eruption the discoloration of the skin of the ankles and lower legs results from deposits of blood pigments. There is no cure but the discoloration has a tendency to fade in time.

WSB's Veto Of Mine Workers' Wage Hike May Backfire On Democrats At Election; U. S.-Britain Split May Develop At Next NATO Conference

WASHINGTON — The Wage Stabilization Board's veto of the mine workers' wage boost, thus precipitating a coal strike on the eve of the election, may cause a serious political backfire against the Democrats on November 4.

Preliminary reports indicate that the miners are up in arms in the key states of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Illinois. They are sore at the government, since the mine owners had already come to terms, and it was the government that upset the applecart.

Yet the man who stiffened the wage board's backbone is a loyal Democrat — Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam, appointed through ex-Democratic Chairman Frank McKinney. He sent a confidential letter to Archibald Cox, the board's chairman, urging him to "adhere strictly" to the government's stabilization standards.

By these standards, the wage increase promised by the mine owners was too high. Putnam has disregarded these standards in past disputes, but this time called upon Cox to hold the line regarding the mine workers' case.

What Putnam apparently feared was the accusation that the administration was buying the miners' vote by giving them a full increase on the eve of elections.

The showdown won't come until the North Atlantic Treaty nations meet in Paris in December, but Britain is looking for a cheaper way to defend Europe, based on atomic power.

The British want to reshuffle European defense plans, slacken the rearmament pace and fall back on America's atomic arsenal. This would require a free exchange of atomic information among the western allies.

However, Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has advised the British and French privately that the most they can expect from the United States is data on how many atomic bombs and other weapons would be available for Europe's defense in case of an attack.

The British are bargaining for an exchange of technical information, however, on the grounds that their scientists are ahead of our own in some phases of atomic research. Trading atomic secrets, they claim, would benefit both countries.

What the British will propose at the NATO meeting in December is to lower the present goal of a 96-division European army by 1955.

They are already arguing behind the scenes that the economic drain is too great and the rearmament load must be lightened. They claim the danger of a Soviet attack has diminished in the past year anyhow.

This is in the face of an urgent warning from Gen. Mathew Ridgway that the European army is dangerously weak and must be built up more rapidly. General Bradley also has warned the Britisn and French that the defense effort cannot be relaxed, and must be based on Russian capabilities, rather than any estimate of the Kremlin's intentions.

The result may be a serious split between the United States and Britain at the forthcoming, crucial NATO conference.

Mayor John Hynes of Boston has sent out speeches to 988 fellow mayors, who have promised to campaign for Stevenson in their towns.... The League of Women Voters has had numerous requests from people who want to know how they can vote for Eisenhower, but not Nixon ....The Pennsylvania Power Company gave its employes time off with pay to attend a political rally for Senator Nixon... Jay Franklin, who helped write Truman's whistle-stop speeches in 1948 is now working hard for Eisenhower....Suzanne La Follette of Wisconsin has been helping Senator McCarthy.

Two strong prospects for the cabinet, in case Stevenson is elected are: crime-busting Senator Kefauver as attorney general, and Secretary of the Air Force Finletter as secretary of Defense....The Republican National Committee has given up all hope of re-electing Senator Cain of Washington, and has refused to send him any more campaign money. The committee is also holding back on Senator Lodge of Massachusetts. All other GOP senatorial candidates have received a flat $5,000, but Lodge so far has been limited to only $2,500 .... Governor Stevenson has been closeting himself alone in his office until 3 a. m. writing speeches. It's one thing that has slowed his campaign .... The Senate Elections Committee will try to total up the stupendous cost of the 1952 campaign. Questionnaires are being sent out to hundreds of Democratic and Republican campaign committees, demanding a full financial accounting .... Before-and-after department: GOP Sen. Bill Jenner of Indiana now complains that it is a "smear" to call him an isolationist. However, in a Senate speech he boasted he was proud to be known as an isolationist; also told a reporter that Eisenhower had espoused everything he (Jenner) was against.

Few people realize it but General MacArthur's name will appear on the ballot for president in about six states as candidate of the Christian Nationalist party, backed by Gerald L. K. Smith.

These states are Arkansas, Washington, Texas, Missouri and Tennessee, with a provision for a write-in vote on the California ballot.

Actually MacArthur has not asked that his name be placed on the ballot, but neither has he taken steps to remove it. Thus C. G. Hall, Arkansas secretary of state, wrote MacArthur asking if he wanted his name on the ballot, but got no reply. So MacArthur's name remains. As Hall explains it:

"The Christian Nationalist party will appear on the ballot. I did write to General MacArthur, but received no answer to my letter. The Arkansas ballot has certified from this office to the counties on Oct. 16."

Top GOP strategists say that this is silent revenge on the part of MacArthur against his old friend Eisenhower. For, in at least three states where the voting may be close — California, Texas and Missouri — MacArthur's following could spell the difference between victory or defeat for Eisenhower.

That is why friends of Eisenhower went to Gerald L. K. Smith, not long ago to urge that MacArthur's name be withdrawn from the ticket, and promised that, if so, Ike would call on his old commander and patch up their differences.

The Anatomy Of Patriotism

Governor Adlai Stevenson, speaking before veterans who had risked their lives for their country, said:

"Now it seems to me that true patriotism is based on tolerance and a large measure of humility."

That, of course, is a private definition of an emotion and is unrelated to the subject. Patriotism is love of country. No one can simultaneously be a patriot and a defender of Alger Hiss, of the Rosenbergs, of the Harold Ware cell, of the New York Eleven and the Hollywood Ten. It is impossible to be a patriot and a Communist or a friend of the Communists at the same time.

The word, humanity, is very broad and includes all these categories. It includes the saintly and the evil and the rest of us who are in between.

"Now what can we say, too, for the man who proclaims himself a patriot—and then for political or for personal reasons attacks the patriotism of faithful public servants? I give you, if I may, as a shocking example the attacks which have been made on the loyalty and the motives of our great war-time chief of staff, General Marshall. To me, this is the type of 'patriotism' which is, in Dr. Johnson's phrase, the last refuge of scoundrels."

Does this mean that if a public servant has made grievous errors, costing to date 121,000 American casualties, we are to say nothing about it because he is a "faithful public servant?" No one has questioned General Marshall's fidelity in the sense that one questions Alger Hiss' fidelity, but General George Marshall is responsible for a series of blunders which gave Soviet Russia the opportunity to conquer China and which brought on the Korean War. He could have accomplished the same result with the very best of intentions, as he could have saved us the humiliations we have suffered in Asia. Millions of human beings have been killed in wars and driven destitute by the best intention of politicians, statesmen, and even philosophers. It is not a question of the intention of public men, but their judgment, their wisdom, their capacity to stand firm in the face of pressures.

To quote Dr. Samuel Johnson is easy; the quotation appears in many reference books and was originally written for his dictionary which is never used anymore. He was a garrulous gentleman whose writings were never as worthy as his conversation which was full of quips and wisecracks. We know more about him from his admirer, James Boswell, who recorded his witticisms, than from his own works which were unusually dull. Johnson is a fitting hero to Stevenson who fills his serious speeches with the light touch that diverts from the main issue.

Patriotism cannot be described as "the last refuge of scoundrels," for it is a noble attribute, an expression of love and gratitude. Patriotism is the cement which binds a people into a unity that sustains a country. To be a patriot of this country is to pay homage to that sanctuary of human liberty in which some 50 races of man have taken refuge and where they found the richest of all gifts, human liberty.

Patriotism requires eternal vigilance to keep our country strong and pure and sure. It is patriotism that impels men to put themselves on the firing line of public opinion to drive Communists out of our government, to force congressional committees to make investigations into the infiltration of our government by Stalin's agents. It is patriotism that drives men and women to testify under oath concerning this evil world conspiracy which often bring upon them the wrath even of those whom they are defending. To be silent in the face of danger can be unpatriotic.

To denounce such men, even by implication or by innuendo, is to fail to realize the damage that has been done to our country since 1934 by those who set out to conquer this country by the corruption of the spirit of our people. That they have not succeeded is due not to easy-going, jesting politicians, but to those patriots who never failed to put America first in their hearts and interests.

For if, after 20 years of "leftish" rule and gradual confiscation of the earnings of American taxpayers, a majority of the voters actually prefer more and more confiscation, then the conservative coalition in Congress of Republicans and Democrats will be forced to make a stand against such confiscation, and that will mean a drastic cut in money for Europe. Four years of political chaos would lie ahead.

With Reuther and Murray of the CIO in the saddle and with labor unions able to influence use of the executive power, an era of mutual suspicion in the industrial world and labor strife unparalleled in our history may be expected. When one side gets possession completely of such immense power, friction is engendered that is not soon overcome. Governor Stevenson has revealed in his recent speeches his surrender to labor union philosophy. His most effective support is coming through union campaigning and union-collected money.

The rebellious attitude of the South toward Trumanism which has been manifested in the campaign may not be enough to swing many of the South's electoral votes, but, if Stevenson is elected, the nation will see a much more determined Southern bloc in Congress than it has ever seen before. Joined with such a bloc will be the Northern Republicans who are conservatives.

Those Republicans, moreover, who are elected in the North on a conservative record this time will be able to point to the defeat of their fellow Republicans who have "middle of the road" or on the so-called "liberal" side as proof that the Republican party must go more to the "right." The election of Senators McCarthy and Jenner will mean that other members of Congress will see greater opportunities for political opposition by following the tactics of the Wisconsin and Indiana senators than by following the moderate course they have pursued in the past.

So far as "witch hunts" and "smears" are concerned, what has happened to date will seem tame by comparson because President Truman by his campaign technique will have convinced many a Republican that it pays to smear and to utter innuendoes. Minority members of congressional communities will be stimulated to more and more crusades. The Truman style of campaigning will appear to have gone over big in the political world if Governor Stevenson wins as a result of what the President has been doing on the stump.

The battle between the coalition in Congress and Stevenson can mean four years of frustrated and stalemated government. If Stevenson is elected, appropriations for Europe would be cut down materially because the coalition will insist on it. As for "isolationism," the country has never seen the type of debate that will come if the "left wing" continues in the saddle in the executive branch. For there are many conservative Republicans and Democrats who know what really can be done politically with the foreign-spending issue and with the unequal burden being borne by American manpower in the UN if political passions are really turned on. The battle for the 1954 Congress will be the battle of the century.

Bitterest of all will be the fight between the "left wing" and the "right wing" on economic issues. The question will arise as to how far the socialistic and "left wing" advisers of Stevenson are going to control his recommendations to Congress and his appointments to office. The fact is some of Stevenson's most influential advisers come from the so-called "non-Communist left" which denounces communism but leans toward state socialism.

What will happen if General Eisenhower is elected? His influence in the Republican party will be so great that people who have been at the extreme "right" will view with open minds any proposals for progressive legislation—mostly because they will be assured that biased "intellectuals" will not be appointed to twist the words of any law that is passed.

The Southern conservatives will follow Eisenhower's leadership.

A working majority in favor of sensible programs of aid to Europe will be assured.

In short, the prospect under Eisenhower is for a period of healing and constructive legislation — a period of fairness in administrative agencies and fairness in adjusting the relations between the minority and the majority which is really the art of good government. Only in that way can basic economic issues be resolved.

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON—A partial answer to the furore over education and training of South Koreans to replace Americans and other UN fighting troops is given by "School Life," a government publication.

The magazine does not mention GOP charges that South Koreans are being ignored as material for an all-South Korean army to fight the Reds.

However, the publication points out Koreans are being trained, in six weeks, on how to speak English. The Army Signal Corps is teaching the ROKs the A, B. C's with the use of a talking movie.

The subjects discussed were the atom bomb, WACs in the Korean army and American movies.

One American Army officer pointed out that the evidence of the training is that 14 Korean army officers "can now read American military manuals."

If Gen. Dwight Eisenhower wins the Presidential race, there is a good chance that he will offer an attractive job to young, handsome William P. Rogers, the Senate counsel who handled the sensational Howard Hughes and Benny Meyers probes.

Rogers, a former assistant to Gov. Thomas Dewey when the latter was New York district attorney, has been one of the masterminds behind the GOP campaign scenes.

It was he who coached pro-Eisenhower witnesses in their testimony during the Taft-Ike contests over delegates just before the Republican National convention. Rogers helped them write their statements and was chief strategist on the working level Ike's triumph in the contests paved the way for his nomination.

Although Rogers no longer is with the Senate investigating committee with which he won fame, he is well known in Washington where it seems only his own refusal would keep him from an attractive berth in an Eisenhower administration.

Major shifts are taking place in the nation's atomic policy. America's strategical atomic information soon will be shared with United States allies.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, returned from Europe with a warning that it will be in America's best interest to share its atomic secrets with other NATO members. Rep. Carl T. Durham (D), North Carolina, immediately declared that the matter must get top priority when Congress meets again.

Besides its military uses, the atom soon may be assigned to civilian work. Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Gordon Dean has said that the United States soon may have all the A-weapons it needs. This means channeling of nuclear energy into civilian projects in the not distant future.

Research is now being carried out by the Air Force and a number of manufacturers on the effectiveness of glass instead of aluminum for the outercovering of airplanes.

Designers have run into a good bit of trouble with various metals on planes that are planned to operate for long periods in the supersonic speed range. The heat and friction which develops intensified the various weaknesses in the metals and often causes disintegration of the surface thus affected.

It is believed in some quarters that this may have taken place when several high-speed jets recently disintegratd in mid-air.

So the plane of the future may have a glass fuselage, wings and rudder, held together by glass rivets, although there would probably be lightweight titanium and stainless steel ribs and supports.

Some think this type of glass plane could safely operate for long periods of time at supersonic speeds.

Oily To Vote

Last time Texas pawned its southern accent was in 1928. But it kept the ticket for it.

Twenty-four years later it may go the way of all mavericks. Ike will bring Texas into the fold if he can find the dotted line.

That line is three miles out in the Gulf of Mexico. Inside it is the tidelands oil claimed by Texas wildcatters. And by U. S. wildcatfishes.

In the waters of the earth, the waters above the earth and the waters beneath the earth—there is plenty of oil.

Texas claims the oil is upon the waters because of a leak in a hot pipe-line.

The government claims it by the right of eminent domain. Which means the good of the many. Plus five per cent for the right contacts.

The Lone Spangle State will go as Republican as Abe's high hat if Eisenhower gives it Riparian rights to the Pelagic pools. And Ike is promising more things than a sailor on a Times Square telephone.

City Workers Open Streets In Mapleside

Catch Basins Are Being Modernized

The Street Department early this week opened a half-mile stretch on Blackiston and Montreal Avenue for traffic.

Opening of the area on Blackiston Avenue, from First Street to Montreal Avenue Extended will tie in First Street to Oldtown Road at Evitts Creek.

The project included filling, grading and surfacing with shale from the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

Also completed, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner, was the opening of one block of Quebec Avenue.

Street Department crews this week have been busy making blacktop repairs to Wempe Drive.

During the summer and early fall, the department has been making good use of shale from the city airport on newly opened streets and for repair jobs.

Since the shale comes from city property, the only cost is for hauling.

Officials said it forms a splendid surface which may be used as a base for later permanent surfacing.

Repair crews have been busy converting catch basins so they can be cleaned mechanically.

Many of the early basins, Mrs. Roeder said, contained iron gratings to catch heavy debris.

The gratings must be removed so the orange peel buckets can be dropped into the catch basins.

All of the gratings will be removed as soon as crews can get to the work.

UPA Locals Plan Policy Meeting

A policy meeting will be held in Covington, Va, today by officials of three United Paperworkers of America (CIO) locals.

The meeting, scheduled at 2 p.m., will be attended by the Negotiating and Relief committees of Luke Local 676, Covington Local 677 and Williamsburg, Pa., Local 675.

The union represents some 4,000 workers who went on strike at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company plants August 21.

Western Will Be Sentenced Today

Norman Lee Western, 51-year-old Martinsburg, W. Va., truck driver, will be sentenced at 10 a.m. today in Allegany County Circuit Court for manslaughter by motor vehicle.

Associate Judge George Henderson will pass sentence. The jury which convicted Western in a fatal accident which occurred July 1 on Route 51 between Oldtown and Paw Paw, W. Va., recommended leniency.

Services End Tomorrow

A two-weeks-long series of meetings being conducted by the "Evangelistic Messengers" at First Christian Church will come to a close with the 7:30 p. m. service tomorrow. Rev. E. W. Gearhart, pastor, said delegations will be present from Christian churches in the Tri-State area.

Miss Hamburg hopes to attend a school where she will be trained as an X-ray technician after completing basic training at Bainbridge Naval Training Center.

Romero Will Furnish Music For Police, Firemen Dance

The music of Russ Romero will be heard by those in attendance at the 30th annual ball of the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association slated November 14 at the State Armory.

Romero is being brought back to Cumberland by popular demand, according to Capt. Vincent H. Wegman of the city fire department. He possesses one of the most outstanding and versatile musical organizations on tour today, Wegman added.

The entertainment of the top-flight band leader includes vocalists, glee club and original novelties. Dancing will be held from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. and tickets may be purchased from members of the association, at the second floor of 113 Centre Street from six to nine each evening, or by telephoning 1185, 1186 and 1187.

Proceeds of the dance, being held in conjunction with the 30th anniversary of the association, will be used toward sick, accident and death benefits of members of the group.

Lt. V. V. McClure of the city fire department heads the Program Committee and is being assisted by K. H. Castle and W. M. Hartung of the fire department as well as R. R. Hammann, L. E. Law and E. M. Powell of the police department.

Firemen Check Two Area Blazes

Firemen checked two blazes in the area yesterday. South End extinguished a fire which burned a tool shed and garden implements during the afternoon in the rear of the home of Charles M. Orndorf, 237 Gleason Street. The call was received about 2:10, firemen said.

A grass fire was checked by volunteer firemen of LaVale in the rear of the home of William Douglas near the barracks of the Maryland State Police. The fire, which occurred at 2:37 p. m., caused little damage, according to firemen.

Square Dance Callers Club To Be Formed

A Square Dance Callers Club will be organized here November 3 at 7:30 p. m. under the sponsorship of the City Recreation Department.

Jack Drummond will be the instructor for the classes, according to Robert E. Pence, city recreation director.

All persons who are interested in learning to call figures are urged to register by calling the City Recreation Department.

Pence said the Recreation Department has only a few experienced callers available and that it is possible to fill only a few of the requests for leaders.

All organized groups which hold square dances are urged to send one or more members to the classes.

No decision has yet been made as to where the classes will meet.

Chamber Thanks Those Who Helped With Exposition

In a separate resolution, the board expressed appreciation for the efforts of J. Goodloe Jackson and W. Earle Cobey, co-chairmen for the Exposition, and to members of the executive committee for the event.

Strother Invited To Pittsburgh For Ike Rally

W. A. Strother, deputy tax collector at the Allegany County Court House, yesterday accepted an invitation to be on the platform Monday night when General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican candidate for President, speaks at a major rally at Hunt Armory in Pittsburgh.

The invitation came from Thomas E. Whitten of Pittsburgh in a telegram. It read in part:

Strother was instrumental in getting a group of Allegany County Republicans to charter a bus several weeks ago to go to Pittsburgh to hear Senator Richard M. Nixon, GOP vice-presidential candidate.

Injunction Is Granted In Va. Strike Dispute

COVINGTON, Va. — (AP) — Union leaders at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. here have been ordered by Alleghany County Circuit Court to stop interfering with other union members seeking to end a nine-week strike at the local plant.

Circuit Court Judge Earl Abbott issued an injunction Thursday directing certain unionists to stop "molesting the complainants," another group of union members who claim that most of the 2,000 striking workers will go back on the job if they are allowed to vote on the issue.

Judge Abbott directed that the complainants stop "making any remarks, issuing catcalls or booing at any of the union members represented by the defendants during union meetings."

Judge Abbott postponed a decision on a request by the complainants that he order an election to be held today among the plant workers to determine how many want to return to work. The judge deferred action on the request until Oct. 30 to see if he has jurisdiction over the matter.

The judge was sharply critical of the CIO Paperworkers Union, which had been charged with breaking up an election attempt last Saturday by blocking entrances to the polling place and preventing workers from voting.

"You had no right to take such action as you did," the judge said to union leaders. "Don't let this happen again. It hurts you. . . I won't hesitate to punish the guilty parties the next time."

Board Will Purchase New Car For County Sheriff

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday gave the contract for furnishing the sheriff with a two-door 1952 model sedan to the low bidder, the Eiler Chevrolet Company.

The Eiler firm submitted as the cost of the car, $1,882.75, with a trade-in allowance on the sheriff's 1951 car set at $1,453.75, bringing the net cost to $429.

Other bids were: Frantz Oldsmobile Company, $2,667.01 for one type, and $2,788.80 for another, with trade in allowance, $1,600, for net costs of $1,067 and $1,188.80.

St. George Motor Company, $1,750.14, new car; $1,255, trade in allowance, $495.14, net cost; Fort Cumberland Motors, Inc., $2,326, new car; $1,660, trade-in allowance, $666, net cost.

In other awards, the commissioners voted to borrow $50,909.94 under emergency borrowing power from the Second National Bank at one per cent interest. The only other bidder was a joint one by the Liberty Trust Company and First National Bank to lend the sum at 1½ per cent interest.

This money will be used to rebuild the Mt. Pleasant Road Bridge and repair the Pinto Bridge.

Two tax exemptions on property owned by lodges have been granted by the commissioners, the William Paca Lodge 189, Sons of Italy, $24,000 for building at 119 North Centre Street, and Wahaba Temple 237, Knights of Khorassan, for property at 14 North Mechanic Street.

Injunction Is Granted In Va. Strike Dispute

COVINGTON, Va. — (AP) — Union leaders at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. here have been ordered by Alleghany County Circuit Court to stop interfering with other union members seeking to end a nine-week strike at the local plant.

Circuit Court Judge Earl Abbott issued an injunction Thursday directing certain unionists to stop "molesting the complainants," another group of union members who claim that most of the 2,000 striking workers will go back on the job if they are allowed to vote on the issue.

Judge Abbott directed that the complainants stop "making any remarks, issuing catcalls or booing at any of the union members represented by the defendants during union meetings."

Judge Abbott postponed a decision on a request by the complainants that he order an election to be held today among the plant workers to determine how many want to return to work. The judge deferred action on the request until Oct. 30 to see if he has jurisdiction over the matter.

The judge was sharply critical of the CIO Paperworkers Union, which had been charged with breaking up an election attempt last Saturday by blocking entrances to the polling place and preventing workers from voting.

"You had no right to take such action as you did," the judge said to union leaders. "Don't let this happen again. It hurts you. . . I won't hesitate to punish the guilty parties the next time."

Board Will Purchase New Car For County Sheriff

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday gave the contract for furnishing the sheriff with a two-door 1952 model sedan to the low bidder, the Eiler Chevrolet Company.

The Eiler firm submitted as the cost of the car, $1,882.75, with a trade-in allowance on the sheriff's 1951 car set at $1,453.75, bringing the net cost to $429.

Other bids were: Frantz Oldsmobile Company, $2,667.01 for one type, and $2,788.80 for another, with trade in allowance, $1,600, for net costs of $1,067 and $1,188.80.

St. George Motor Company, $1,750.14, new car; $1,255, trade in allowance, $495.14, net cost; Fort Cumberland Motors, Inc., $2,326, new car; $1,660, trade-in allowance, $666, net cost.

In other awards, the commissioners voted to borrow $50,909.94 under emergency borrowing power from the Second National Bank at one per cent interest. The only other bidder was a joint one by the Liberty Trust Company and First National Bank to lend the sum at 1½ per cent interest.

This money will be used to rebuild the Mt. Pleasant Road Bridge and repair the Pinto Bridge.

Two tax exemptions on property owned by lodges have been granted by the commissioners, the William Paca Lodge 189, Sons of Italy, $24,000 for building at 119 North Centre Street, and Wahaba Temple 237, Knights of Khorassan, for property at 14 North Mechanic Street.

LIFE EXPECTANCY INCREASED

by Garry C. Meyers, Ph.D.

The average baby born in the United States in 1951 can be expetced to live to the age of 67 years. Fifty years earlier, it was only 48 years.

According to "Health Resources in the United States," published by the Brookings Institute an infant in 1901 had three chances in four to reach the age of 25. In 1940 he had nine chances out of ten. In 1901, 39 per cent of the adults of 50 reached the age of 75, while in 1940, it was 46 per cent. Of all the people alive in 1950, 80 per cent could expect to attain the age of 50 years. In 1901 only 59 per cent could. The death rate for infants dropped from 162.4 per thousand, live births in 1940 to 31.3 in 1949. Also sharp drops in death rate for children between five and 19 and for adults from 20 to 25 were noted.

Chief Factors

The factors chiefly responsible for the overall improvement in health since 1900 are advances in medical facilities and the control of communicable diseases. Health progress is a story of improved treatment of diseases on one hand and prevention of disease on the other.

Wonderful drugs and vaccines have controlled most of the infections and epidemics which used to kill many infants and children. Yet none of these modern miracles have increased the life expectancy of middle-aged persons. During the last half century when 20 years were added to the life expectancy of the average baby in the United States, less than a week was added for persons of 50.

In the early 1900's the major causes of death were tuberculosis, pneumonia, and diarrhea-enteritis. Since then the shift has been toward degenerative diseases of the aged: heart and circulatory diseases, cancer and nephritis. In the middle years of life, diseases of the heart and blood vessels have killed more than have all other killers together, including cancer, and deaths due to accident and wars.

People Getting Taller

The average person in the United States today is about four inches taller than his colonial ancestors were. Men entering New England colleges in the 1860's averaged 5 feet 7 inches. Half a century later their average height was 5 feet 9 inches, and after another twenty years, in the early 1930's it was 5 feet 11 inches, according to Laurance Farmer, writing in a recent "Harper's."

Whereas drugs have been used successfully with a very few persons to check or accelerate growth in height, stature is primarily an inherited trait and depends upon the genes. Unfortunately, many parents and other relatives make very tall or very short children or youths unhappy by silly remarks about the matter. Our problem as parents is to help our children to accept their height and adjust themselves emotionally to it.

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Allegany High's Campers put together two scoring drives in the first half and added a clinching field goal in the final period to upset the slightly-favored Martinsburg High Bulldogs last night at Fort Hill stadium. The score was 16-0.

Approximately 4,500 fans saw a fighting Blue and White eleven completely dominate play, taking advantage of several miscues by the West Virginians to hand Coach John Cobourn's charges their second defeat of the seacon. The triumph was the fifth in seven games for Allegany.

Campers Score Early

The Campers, paced by a rock-ribbed defense and the hard-running of halfbacks Dick Rank and Chuck Eirich, put together a 52-yard touchdown march the first time they got their hands on the ball.

Taking Martinsburg's opening kickoff on their own 42 Allegany used 11 hard-hitting running plays to enter pay dirt with Eirich smacking over from the four for the tally. Rank's kick for the point was good.

Three eight-yard runs, two by Dave Walton and one by Rank, spearheaded the drive which chalked up four consecutive first downs.

Jim Hoffman, Allegany's slick ball-handling quarterback, intercepted a Martinsburg pass late in the second stanza to set up the Campers' second td. Hoffman snatched Mel Hamilton's aerial out of the waiting arms of Dick Holbruner on the Bulldogs' 40 and on the first scrimmage play passed to Freddie Wartzack, sub fullback, in the left flat and the husky back romped all the way for the six-pointer.

Wartzack's run was a sparkler as he got away from several tacklers, reversed his field and took advantage of good downfield blocking by his mates to go all the way unmolested.

A booming 64-yard punt by Eirich had put the ball in play on the Bulldogs' 27 to set the stage for Hoffman's interception. Eirich, kicking from his 28, blasted a high end-over-end boot over the Martinsburg safety's head which rolled to the visitors' eight where it was picked up and returned to the 27 by Don Netoskie.

Midway in the final period Coach Roy Lester's Alco eleven iced the contest when burly Dick Rank booted home a 25-yard field goal to give the Campers an insurmountable 16-0 lead.

Netoskie's fumble which was recovered by Rank on the Martinsburg 25 opened the gates for Allegany's last three points. Hoffman pitched to Rank for 11 yards and three plays into the line netted seven more. With the ball on the Bulldog's seven Rank booted home the field goal from the 15 at an angle.

Notes On Game

Martinsburg never got inside Allegany's 25-yard line . . . . Holbrunner, Martinsburg's towering end, dropped a perfect pass on the Campers' 20 in the second period with no one near him . . . . Rank, Eirich, Hoffman, Beerman and Bosley outstanding defensively for winners . . . . Eirich made it seven touchdowns in a row for Campers with first period score . . . . Streak broken when Wartzack tallied in second . . . . Rank picked up 73 yards in 16 carries for 4.58 average with terrific display of power running . . . . Martinsburg's 60-piece band put on nice half-time show . . . . Little 2½-year-old Jane Hill was cute majorette with visitors . . . . Lineups:

The triumph was Beall's first in the six-game series with the West Virginians and gave the Mountaineers a 2-4 record for the campaign.

Fullback Jim Beach accounted for two of the touchdowns while the other was credited to Paul Thompson. Jim Stevens made the extra point from placement. Kershner scored for the home team in the final period.

Beall's initial score came on the 7th play after the opening kickoff when Bill Davis passed from the Charles Town 49 to 40 and Thompson carried it over from there. Steevns failed to kick the point.

Later in the opening stanza a pass play from Davis to Thompson covered 60 yards and carried to Charles Town's two from where Jim Beach plunged for the TD. Davis' plunge for the point was short.

Beach racked up Beall's final score in the fourth period on a 13-yard run. Jim Stevens added the point from placement. Bob Zinn's 18 yard pass to Thompson who ran to the Charles Town 31 set up this score.

Charles Town marched from midfield to score in the last quarter. It was against Beall's reserves that Kershner cracked over from the 2 for the score.

Beall made a gallant goal line stand in the second quarter and held Charles Town on the six inch line as time ran out. Lineups:

Romney Is Rated Tops 1936 Soccer All-Stars

By C. V. BURNS

Coach Dick McElwee's Romney High School Pioneers entered yesterday's game at Ridgeley as holder of first place in the Class "B" football ratings in West Virginia.

Dick McElwee

Sissonville of Kanawha county was knocked from the top spot and dropped into second place.

Romney advanced to the top berth when the West Virginia High School Athletic Association ruled Rainelle had used an ineligible player. The ruling forfeited the first three games of the season for Rainelle.

Winfield holds third place, Monongah, fourth, West Milford, fifth, and Farmington, which plays at Romney next Saturday, sixth.

Romney has knocked off five Class "B" opponents, namely, Berkeley Springs 33-12, Charles Town 44-12, Franklin 28-6, Moorefield 45-6 and Ridgeley 4-16.

From Westernport comes the following request:

"Will you please publish the names and positions of the players on the all-star soccer team for the year 1936. Also what team had the most represented and what year?'

We have never kept records of the all-star teams. Therefore, we don't know what school had the most representatives on the team in any one season.

However, we looked up the 1936 selections and find that Bruce High, which finished in second place behind Central, landed seven players on the first team picked by Clifton Van Roby, who officiated that season.

Whether seven is a record for one season we can't say. The W.M.I. League is in its 26th year and it would take quite some time for such a research job.

Here are the 1936 teams:

Goal—Rhind, Allegany.
LB—McBee, Bruce.
RB—Byrnes, Beall.
LHB—Harvey, Bruce.
CHB—McDade, Beall.
RHB—Pence, Bruce.
OR—Davisson, Bruce.
IR—Moran, Bruce.
CF—G. Ralston, Central.
IL—Kiddy, Bruce.
OL—Travis, Bruce.

Players receiving honorable mention were Hanna, Bruce; Berry, Allegany; Fallon, Bruce, and McManus, Central.

Frank Colley, sports editor of the Hagerstown Herald, informs us that Johnstown, Pa., is being considered for a berth in the Interstate Baseball League next year.

To Herb Bailey:

You are correct, Mr. Bailey, when you say that Mr. George Herman "Babe" Ruth hit 59 home runs in one season. That was in 1921. He hung up the major league record of 60 in 1927. In 1920 and 1928 he smacked 54 each year.

Jimmy Foxx poled 58 four-baggers in 1932 and Hank Greenberg hit the same number in 1938.

"Hack" Wilson blasted 56 homers in 1930 to hang up the National League all-time record. Ralph Kiner socked 54 in 1949 and tied Johnny Mize at 51 in 1947.

Louisiana State University's Tigers who play Maryland's undefeated Terps at College Park today are champions when it comes to losing teeth on the gridiron.

Dr. Vincent J. Oddo, Providence, R. I., conducted a survey on molar mishaps and says that 4,000 college players queried reported 733 teeth lost, chipped or broken.

As one writer points out, the Bayou Tiger's bark now is worse than his bite.

A rules change designed primarily to force the players to cut down their fouling becomes effective in basketball this year and you might call your lawyer to figure it out.

One free throw, with a plus-one potential, if the first is not successful, is to be awarded during the entire first three quarters, and also during the first five minutes of the fourth quarter of a high school game. The rule will be the same for college games during the first three periods, but the time has been lengthened to seven minutes.

The change specifies that unless the foul is part of a double foul or multiple foul, a second free throw is awarded if the foul is:

(1) Flagrant or intentional.

(2) By a player who does not make reasonable effort to avoid contact.

(3) By a player who is in an unfavorable position with little chance to reach the ball.

(4) Against a field goal thrower whose try is not successful.

(5) Committed during the last three minutes of the fourth quarter, and is not against a field goal thrower whose try is successful.

(6) Committed during the last three minutes of an extra period, and is not against a field goal thrower whose try is successful (in high school game this provision will apply to the entire extra period of three minutes.)

(7) Committed during any time of the game prior to the last three minutes of the fourth quarter, and provided that the first free throw of an otherwise one-shot foul is not successful.

This is the kind of rule that should create many headaches and make nervous wrecks of coaches.

PARSONS, W. Va., Oct. 24 — Paced by Don Evans and K. D. Collett who accounted for five of the six touchdowns, Parsons High School's Panthers rolled over the West Virginia School for the Deaf gridders of Romney here today by the decisive score of 40 to 7.

Evans plunged over for the first score in the opening stanza and then passed to Collett for the point. Parsons scored three times in the second period. Evans went seven yards for the first six-pointer, McDonald passed to Collett who ran 40 yards for the second score and Roberts plunged over from the one. Gainer registered the extra point.

In the third period Collett recovered a fumble and ran over from the 10 and McDonald plunged the point. Evans made the final TD in the last quarter on a plunge from the two. McDonald added the point.

Coach Dick McElwee's Hampshire countians scored one or more touchdowns in every period and Joe Corbin, the Pioneers' extra point specialist recorded five conversions in six tries. It was Romney's 6th win in seven starts and their third victor, against no losses in the conference.

Roger Parker and Emory Landis racked up TDs in the first period and Corbin kicked both extra points. In the second quarter Ray Haines caught a screen pass and galloped 65 yards for a score and later in the same stanza he sprinted 31 yards to pay dirt. Corbin made good one of two tries for the extra points.

Parker racked up his second TD in the third quarter and Corbin converted while Sammy Lyons accounted for the final six-pointer in the last period and Corbin split the uprights with his fifth conversion.

Special Set For Pimlico

Atkinson, Lasswell Ride In Big Race

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24 (AP)—Larry MacPhail expects the two jockeys to have a great deal to do with winning tomorrow's Pimlico Special between his General Staff and Greentree's One Hitter.

"In a two-horse race it gets down to a race between the jockeys," said the owner. "The horses have to run an entirely different race than they normally do with several in the field.

For instance, General Staff likes to come from behind but you can't hold him unless you choke him to death if some other horse isn't out there setting a fast pace. One Hitter won't go out and make the pace, either, so it should be an interesting race."

The jockeys who will have to make up the horses' minds whether to go ahead or stay back during the mile and three sixteenths race are Ted Atkinson on One Hitter and Glenn Lasswell on General Staff. Atkinson is by far the more experienced hand, the 36-year-old Canadian having ridden two past Special winners, including One Hitter two years ago.

Brehany Stars In Tie Battle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (INS)—Virginia Military Institute quarterback Bill Brehany hit George Chumbley with a short pass and Chumbley went 40 yards for a touchdown that gave VMI a 20-20 tie with George Washington University tonight.

Brehany, a one-man show, passed for the first VMI score in the opening period.

The George Washington Colonials scored two touchdowns in the second quarter. Quarterback Ray Fox went over from two yards out on the key play. Then, Fullback Norbert Danz took a short pass from Fox with less than 15 seconds remaining in the half and raced 45 yards to a touchdown.

George Washington scored its final touchdown in the third quarter as "Skinny" Saffer threw a 29-yard pass to Jack Daly who fell into the end zone.

Both teams made two of three extra points.

On the basis of comparative scores the Shepherdstown eleven is conceded a slight edge over the Keyserites. The Rams whipped Glenville by two touchdowns, 21-6 while the Cats lost to the Pioneers, 14-0. Shepherd also posted a 13-0 win over Newport News Tech while Potomac edged the same team, 12-7.

Coach Lough's teams have won five out of their last six engagements with Shepherd and may prove tough to beat at home today. The Rams last defeated Potomac in 1949 by the score of 19-6. Last year the Loughmen scored a 26-7 triumph.

Eight players from this section appear on the Shepherd roster. They are Jack Booth, of Romney, former Potomac State player; Charles Emery, of Keyser; Larry McKenzie, co-captain, Schley Lyons, Bill Lee and Eddie Siebert, from Fort Hill, and Dick Widdows and Bill Robinson, of Allegany High.

Both teams are members of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference but Shepherd is not playing the four games required to qualify for the championship. Potomac has split even in a pair of WVIC tilts and after the Shepherd game meets Concord's Mountain Lions and West Liberty.

Colts May Get NFL Franchise

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24 (AP)—Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, said today the foundation has been laid "to restore professional football to Baltimore."

Baltimore's franchise in the league was surrendered to Chicago in 1951. Known as the Colts, the team had operated here for four years.

Bell met with lawyers involved in a suit filed by directors of the Baltimore Colts against the National League. The suit on file asks for damages and return of $50,000 Baltimore paid Washington for territorial rights.

"I believe we have laid the foundation for an effort to restore professional football to Baltimore," Beall said after a three hour session.

The Colts were the 13th team in the league and when the franchise was surrendered it left the 12 teams now playing.

Ezzard Charles Wallops Brion

Former Champ Earns Unanimous Decision

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (INS)—Former Heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles, in his new role of "tiger," belted out an unanimous and fairly one-sided ten-round decision tonight over Cesar Brion at Madison Square Garden.

Charles, gunning for a knockout that he never quite managed to bring off, was the aggressor throughout and had Brion hanging on for dear life in the late rounds.

It was the second straight comeback victory for the "new" Charles, who jettisoned his usual smooth ring style to slug it out with Brion. He succeeded in pounding the Argentine giant almost at will, and if he failed to kayo his foe—well, Charles supporters could point out that nobody else ever has stopped Cesar, either.

Judges Joe Agnello and Harold Barnes each gave Brion three rounds and Charles seven. Referee Ruby Goldstein scored it 7-2-1. It wouldn't have been that close had not Charles been penalized the eighth round because of a low blow.

HAGERSTOWN, Oct. 24—Touchdown gallops of 80 and 83 yards by Harry Parks in the first quarter tonight enabled Hagerstown High School to turn back the gridders of Fort Hill High School of Cumberland in the 17th annual meeting of the schools. A crowd of 3,500 attended.

It was Hagerstown's first win over the Sentinels since 1946. The Cumberlanders had won the last five games of the series.

In the second period Burke kicked to the Hagerstown 9 and in two rushes the Maroon and Gray moved the ball to the 20. On the next play Harry Parks took a hand-off from Quarterback Bill Cianelli and raced 80 yards for the first TD. Jenkins' placement was good.

Later in the second period after Burke kicked to the Hagerstown 10, Cianelli advanced to the 17 and on the next play, a hand-off Cianelli to Parks, the latter sprinted 83 yards to pay dirt. Time ran out while Parks was romping down the field. Jenkins' placement gave the Hubs a 14-0 lead.

Jimmy Farris accounted for Fort Hill's touchdown in the third quarter, smashing over for the score from the two. His kick for the point hit the crossbar and bounded over. The score climaxed a drive of 41 yards during which McVicker, Hull, Burke and Farris carried the ball.

In the second period Fort Hill moved to the home team's eight yard line but there Andrews fumbled, Springer recovered and Jenkins kicked out of danger. In the third stanza McVicker fumbled on the Hubs' 12 and Cianelli recovered. Parks fumbled on the Fort Hill three yard mark at the final whistle.

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Allegany High's Campers put together two scoring drives in the first half and added a clinching field goal in the final period to upset the slightly-favored Martinsburg High Bulldogs last night at Fort Hill stadium. The score was 16-0.

Approximately 4,500 fans saw a fighting Blue and White eleven completely dominate play, taking advantage of several miscues by the West Virginians to hand Coach John Cobourn's charges their second defeat of the seacon. The triumph was the fifth in seven games for Allegany.

Campers Score Early

The Campers, paced by a rock-ribbed defense and the hard-running of halfbacks Dick Rank and Chuck Eirich, put together a 52-yard touchdown march the first time they got their hands on the ball.

Taking Martinsburg's opening kickoff on their own 42 Allegany used 11 hard-hitting running plays to enter pay dirt with Eirich smacking over from the four for the tally. Rank's kick for the point was good.

Three eight-yard runs, two by Dave Walton and one by Rank, spearheaded the drive which chalked up four consecutive first downs.

Jim Hoffman, Allegany's slick ball-handling quarterback, intercepted a Martinsburg pass late in the second stanza to set up the Campers' second td. Hoffman snatched Mel Hamilton's aerial out of the waiting arms of Dick Holbruner on the Bulldogs' 40 and on the first scrimmage play passed to Freddie Wartzack, sub fullback, in the left flat and the husky back romped all the way for the six-pointer.

Wartzack's run was a sparkler as he got away from several tacklers, reversed his field and took advantage of good downfield blocking by his mates to go all the way unmolested.

A booming 64-yard punt by Eirich had put the ball in play on the Bulldogs' 27 to set the stage for Hoffman's interception. Eirich, kicking from his 28, blasted a high end-over-end boot over the Martinsburg safety's head which rolled to the visitors' eight where it was picked up and returned to the 27 by Don Netoskie.

Midway in the final period Coach Roy Lester's Alco eleven iced the contest when burly Dick Rank booted home a 25-yard field goal to give the Campers an insurmountable 16-0 lead.

Netoskie's fumble which was recovered by Rank on the Martinsburg 25 opened the gates for Allegany's last three points. Hoffman pitched to Rank for 11 yards and three plays into the line netted seven more. With the ball on the Bulldog's seven Rank booted home the field goal from the 15 at an angle.

Coach Ray Hull's Beall High School football teem snapped a four-game losing streak yesterday by defeating Charles Town High School at Charles Town, W. Va., by the score of 19-6.

The triumph was Beall's first in the six-game series with the West Virginians and gave the Mountaineers a 2-4 record for the campaign.

Fullback Jim Beach accounted for two of the touchdowns while the other was credited to Paul Thompson. Jim Stevens made the extra point from placement. Kershner scored for the home team in the final period.

Beall's initial score came on the 7th play after the opening kickoff when Bill Davis passed from the Charles Town 49 to 40 and Thompson carried it over from there. Steevns failed to kick the point.

Later in the opening stanza a pass play from Davis to Thompson covered 60 yards and carried to Charles Town's two from where Jim Beach plunged for the TD. Davis' plunge for the point was short.

Beach racked up Beall's final score in the fourth period on a 13-yard run. Jim Stevens added the point from placement. Bob Zinn's 18 yard pass to Thompson who ran to the Charles Town 31 set up this score.

Charles Town marched from midfield to score in the last quarter. It was against Beall's reserves that Kershner cracked over from the 2 for the score.

Romney Is Rated Tops in 1936 Soccer All-Stars

By C. V. BURNS

Coach Dick McElwee's Romney High School Pioneers entered yesterday's game at Ridgeley as holder of first place in the Class "B" football ratings in West Virginia.

Dick McElwee

Sissonville of Kanawha county was knocked from the top spot and dropped into second place.

Romney advanced to the top berth when the West Virginia High School Athletic Association ruled Rainelle had used an ineligible player. The ruling forfeited the first three games of the season for Rainelle.

Winfield holds third place, Monongah, fourth, West Milford, fifth, and Farmington, which plays at Romney next Saturday, sixth.

Romney has knocked off five Class "B" opponents, namely, Berkeley Springs 33-12, Charles Town 44-12, Franklin 28-6, Moorefield 45-6 and Ridgeley 4-16.

From Westernport comes the following request:

"Will you please publish the names and positions of the players on the all-star soccer team for the year 1936. Also what team had the most represented and what year?'

We have never kept records of the all-star teams. Therefore, we don't know what school had the most representatives on the team in any one season.

However, we looked up the 1936 selections and find that Bruce High, which finished in second place behind Central, landed seven players on the first team picked by Clifton Van Roby, who officiated that season.

Whether seven is a record for one season we can't say. The W.M.I. League is in its 26th year and it would take quite some time for such a research job.

Here are the 1936 teams:

Goal—Rhind, Allegany.
LB—McBee, Bruce.
RB—Byrnes, Beall.
LHB—Harvey, Bruce.
CHB—McDade, Beall.
RHB—Pence, Bruce.
OR—Davisson, Bruce.
IR—Moran, Bruce.
CF—G. Ralston, Central.
IL—Kiddy, Bruce.
OL—Travis, Bruce.

Frank Colley, sports editor of the Hagerstown Herald, informs us that Johnstown, Pa., is being considered for a berth in the Interstate Baseball League next year.

To Herb Bailey:

You are correct, Mr. Bailey, when you say that Mr. George Herman "Babe" Ruth hit 59 home runs in one season. That was in 1921. He hung up the major league record of 60 in 1927. In 1920 and 1928 he smacked 54 each year.

Jimmy Foxx poled 58 four-baggers in 1932 and Hank Greenberg hit the same number in 1938.

"Hack" Wilson blasted 56 homers in 1930 to hang up the National League all-time record. Ralph Kiner socked 54 in 1949 and tied Johnny Mize at 51 in 1947.

Louisiana State University's Tigers who play Maryland's undefeated Terps at College Park today are champions when it comes to losing teeth on the gridiron.

Dr. Vincent J. Oddo, Providence, R. I., conducted a survey on molar mishaps and says that 4,000 college players queried reported 733 teeth lost, chipped or broken.

A rules change designed primarily to force the players to cut down their fouling becomes effective in basketball this year and you might call your lawyer to figure it out.

One free throw, with a plus-one potential, if the first is not successful, is to be awarded during the entire first three quarters, and also during the first five minutes of the fourth quarter of a high school game. The rule will be the same for college games during the first three periods, but the time has been lengthened to seven minutes.

The change specifies that unless the foul is part of a double foul or multiple foul, a second free throw is awarded if the foul is:

(1) Flagrant or intentional.

(2) By a player who does not make reasonable effort to avoid contact.

(3) By a player who is in an unfavorable position with little chance to reach the ball.

(4) Against a field goal thrower whose try is not successful.

(5) Committed during the last three minutes of the fourth quarter, and is not against a field goal thrower whose try is successful.

(6) Committed during the last three minutes of an extra period, and is not against a field goal thrower whose try is successful (in high school game this provision will apply to the entire extra period of three minutes.)

(7) Committed during any time of the game prior to the last three minutes of the fourth quarter, and provided that the first free throw of an otherwise one-shot foul is not successful.

This is the kind of rule that should create many headaches and make nervous wrecks of coaches.

Special Set For Pimlico

Atkinson, Lasswell Ride In Big Race

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24 (AP)—Larry MacPhail expects the two jockeys to have a great deal to do with winning tomorrow's Pimlico Special between his General Staff and Greentree's One Hitter.

"In a two-horse race it gets down to a race between the jockeys," said the owner. "The horses have to run an entirely different race than they normally do with several in the field.

For instance, General Staff likes to come from behind but you can't hold him unless you choke him to death if some other horse isn't out there setting a fast pace. One Hitter won't go out and make the pace, either, so it should be an interesting race."

The jockeys who will have to make up the horses' minds whether to go ahead or stay back during the mile and three sixteenths race are Ted Atkinson on One Hitter and Glenn Lasswell on General Staff. Atkinson is by far the more experienced hand, the 36-year-old Canadian having ridden two past Special winners, including One Hitter two years ago.

Brehany Stars In Tie Battle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (INS)—Virginia Military Institute quarterback Bill Brehany hit George Chumbley with a short pass and Chumbley went 40 yards for a touchdown that gave VMI a 20-20 tie with George Washington University tonight.

Brehany, a one-man show, passed for the first VMI score in the opening period.

The George Washington Colonials scored two touchdowns in the second quarter. Quarterback Ray Fox went over from two yards out on the key play. Then, Fullback Norbert Danz took a short pass from Fox with less than 15 seconds remaining in the half and raced 45 yards to a touchdown.

George Washington scored its final touchdown in the third quarter as "Skinny" Saffer threw a 29-yard pass to Jack Daly who fell into the end zone.

Both teams made two of three extra points.

On the basis of comparative scores the Shepherdstown eleven is conceded a slight edge over the Keyserites. The Rams whipped Glenville by two touchdowns, 21-6 while the Cats lost to the Pioneers, 14-0. Shepherd also posted a 13-0 win over Newport News Tech while Potomac edged the same team, 12-7.

Coach Lough's teams have won five out of their last six engagements with Shepherd and may prove tough to beat at home today. The Rams last defeated Potomac in 1949 by the score of 19-6. Last year the Loughmen scored a 26-7 triumph.

Eight players from this section appear on the Shepherd roster. They are Jack Booth, of Romney, former Potomac State player; Charles Emery, of Keyser; Larry McKenzie, co-captain, Schley Lyons, Bill Lee and Eddie Siebert, from Fort Hill, and Dick Widdows and Bill Robinson, of Allegany High.

Both teams are members of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference but Shepherd is not playing the four games required to qualify for the championship. Potomac has split even in a pair of WVIC tilts and after the Shepherd game meets Concord's Mountain Lions and West Liberty.

Colts May Get NFL Franchise

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24 (AP)—Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, said today the foundation has been laid "to restore professional football to Baltimore."

Baltimore's franchise in the league was surrendered to Chicago in 1951. Known as the Colts, the team had operated here for four years.

Bell met with lawyers involved in a suit filed by directors of the Baltimore Colts against the National League. The suit on file asks for damages and return of $50,000 Baltimore paid Washington for territorial rights.

"I believe we have laid the foundation for an effort to restore professional football to Baltimore," Beall said after a three hour session.

The Colts were the 13th team in the league and when the franchise was surrendered it left the 12 teams now playing.

Ezzard Charles Wallops Brion

Former Champ Earns Unanimous Decision

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (INS)—Former Heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles, in his new role of "tiger," belted out an unanimous and fairly one-sided ten-round decision tonight over Cesar Brion at Madison Square Garden.

Charles, gunning for a knockout that he never quite managed to bring off, was the aggressor throughout and had Brion hanging on for dear life in the late rounds.

It was the second straight comeback victory for the "new" Charles, who jettisoned his usual smooth ring style to slug it out with Brion. He succeeded in pounding the Argentine giant almost at will, and if he failed to kayo his foe—well, Charles supporters could point out that nobody else ever has stopped Cesar, either.

Judges Joe Agnello and Harold Barnes each gave Brion three rounds and Charles seven. Referee Ruby Goldstein scored it 7-2-1. It wouldn't have been that close had not Charles been penalized the eighth round because of a low blow.

HAGERSTOWN, Oct. 24—Touchdown gallops of 80 and 83 yards by Harry Parks in the first quarter tonight enabled Hagerstown High School to turn back the gridders of Fort Hill High School of Cumberland in the 17th annual meeting of the schools. A crowd of 3,500 attended.

It was Hagerstown's first win over the Sentinels since 1946. The Cumberlanders had won the last five games of the series.

In the second period Burke kicked to the Hagerstown 9 and in two rushes the Maroon and Gray moved the ball to the 20. On the next play Harry Parks took a hand-off from Quarterback Bill Cianelli and raced 80 yards for the first TD. Jenkins' placement was good.

Later in the second period after Burke kicked to the Hagerstown 10, Cianelli advanced to the 17 and on the next play, a hand-off Cianelli to Parks, the latter sprinted 83 yards to pay dirt. Time ran out while Parks was romping down the field. Jenkins' placement gave the Hubs a 14-0 lead.

Jimmy Farris accounted for Fort Hill's touchdown in the third quarter, smashing over for the score from the two. His kick for the point hit the crossbar and bounded over. The score climaxed a drive of 41 yards during which McVicker, Hull, Burke and Farris carried the ball.

In the second period Fort Hill moved to the home team's eight yard line but there Andrews fumbled, Springer recovered and Jenkins kicked out of danger. In the third stanza McVicker fumbled on the Hubs' 12 and Cianelli recovered. Parks fumbled on the Fort Hill three yard mark at the final whistle.

Fullback Ernie Courrier scored a touchdown and kicked the extra point in the second quarter to give Keyser High School's Golden Tornado a 7-6 decision over the gridders of Moorefield High School yesterday in a Potomac Valley Conference game at Moorefield.

The triumph was Keyser's third in a row in the conference and kept Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's team tied with Romney for first place. The Rockets defeated Ridgeley yesterday to the score of 41-6.

Moorefield scored its touchdown in the opening period when Bobby Wilson went over from the 18-yard line. The Yellowjackets gained possession of the ball on the KHS 40 after recovering a Keyser fumble. Six plays later Wilson hit pay dirt. Bobby Wilson's place kick for the point was wide.

In the second period after Keyser lost to ball on downs on the Moorefield 4 the Yellowjackets kicked to their own 35. On the second play George Karras ran the ball from the 23 to 4. Keyser was penalized five yards. In three plays Courrier smashed over from the 2 for the td and also booted the extra point.

Late in the second period Keyser reeled off four first downs and George Karras scored from the 10-yard line but the touchdown was nullified. Then Moorefield held for downs on its own 5. Keyser threatened again in the final period but the drive bogged down on the Moorefield 7.

Pass interceptions halted Moorefield on three occasions. Karras swiped two of the aerials and Ralph Rice got the other one.

Kady and Landis were outstanding on the line while Karras and Courrier were Keyser's best bets in the backfield. Sherman, Thomas, Bobby Wilson and Randall Raines played best for Moorefield.

SALEM, N. H., Oct. 24 (AP)—Tony DeSpirito, the 17-year-old Lawrence, Mass., youngster, today became the eighth jockey in the history of the American turf to ride 300 winners in a single year.

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 24 — Recoveries of opponents' fumbles set up three of the four touchdowns scored here today as Petersburg's Vikings and the Berkeley Springs Indians battled to a 13-13 gridiron deadlock.

Coach Jesse Riggleman's Vikings came from behind in the third period to tally on 52-yard drive following a Berkeley miscue to knot the count after the Indians had taken a 13-7 lead with two second quarter touchdowns. John Boor's try for the winning extra point after Petersburg's second score was blocked.

The first of three Berkeley bobbles which were pounced on by Petersburg led to the Vikings' initial six-pointer in the first period when John Goldizen fell on the ball on the Indians' 20. Don Sites cracked off tackle from the two for the td.

Berkeley scored following the recovery of a Petersburg fumble on the Vikings' 23 when Phil Dawson cracked over from the two. Dawson also tallied the second Indians' touchdown on a two-yard plunge following a pair of passes from Dawson to Gary Kerns, one good for 22 yards. The lineups:

14 Terps Will Play In Final Home Game

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 24 (AP)—Fourteen members of the greatest squad in Maryland's 60 years of playing football will put on their last home show against Louisiana State tomorrow.

One of the seniors, Quarterback Jack Scarbath, has been a regular since the first game of 1950. Since then, Maryland has lost only two games and tied one while winning 22. It hasn't been beaten in the last 20 games and has won the last 17 in a row, five this season.

The seniors fill seven of the first string positions on both offense and defense, which means they'll be in full view of the expected 30,000 fans as long as Coach Jim Tatum feels they're needed.

The University of Mississippi played its 62nd game in Memphis since 1893 when it played host to Auburn in Crump Stadium on Oct. 4.

Turner And Dykes Get Return Match

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24 (AP) — Welterweight contenders Gil Turner of Philadelphia and Bobby Dykes of Miami, Fla., will meet in a return 10 round bout here Nov. 18 at Convention Hall, boxing promoter Herman Taylor announced.

Turner and Dykes fought a crowd-pleasing televised bout in New York last month with the Miami puncher coming back strong in the late rounds to win a split decision. Both boys have been beaten in title bouts by Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan in the past year. Gavilan knocked out Turner and took a split verdict from Dykes.

When the New York Yankees signed a working agreement with the Birmingham Barons it marked the New Yorker's first tieup with a club in the Southern Association.

Fullback Ernie Courrier scored a touchdown and kicked the extra point in the second quarter to give Keyser High School's Golden Tornado a 7-6 decision over the gridders of Moorefield High School yesterday in a Potomac Valley Conference game at Moorefield.

The triumph was Keyser's third in a row in the conference and kept Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's team tied with Romney for first place. The Rockets defeated Ridgeley yesterday to the score of 41-6.

Moorefield scored its touchdown in the opening period when Bobby Wilson went over from the 18-yard line. The Yellowjackets gained possession of the ball on the KHS 40 after recovering a Keyser fumble. Six plays later Wilson hit pay dirt, Bobby Wilson's place kick for the point was wide.

In the second period after Keyser lost to ball on downs on the Moorefield 4 the Yellowjackets kicked to their own 35. On the second play George Karras ran the ball from the 23 to 4. Keyser was penalized five yards. In three plays Courrier smashed over from the 2 for the td and also booted the extra point.

Late in the second period Keyser reeled off four first downs and George Karras scored from the 10-yard line but the touchdown was nullified. Then Moorefield held for downs on its own 5. Keyser threatened again in the final period but the drive bogged down on the Moorefield 7.

Pass interceptions halted Moorefield on three occasions. Karras swiped two of the aerials and Ralph Rice got the other one.

Kady and Landis were outstanding on the line while Karras and Courrier were Keyser's best bets in the backfield. Sherman, Thomas, Bobby Wilson and Randall Raines played best for Moorefield.

Tony DeSpirito Gets 300th Win

Youngster Is 8th In Charmed Circle

SALEM, N. H., Oct. 24 (AP)—Tony DeSpirito, the 17-year-old Lawrence, Mass., youngster, today became the eighth jockey in the history of the American turf to ride 300 winners in a single year.

DeSpirito won with J. J. Crowley's Printers Devil in the third race and then booted home Henry Forrest's Master Brian in the ninth and final event. He also had three places, one show and ran out of the money twice.

The other riders to qualify for the 300 club were Walter Miller, Vincent Powers, Jackie Westrope, Johnny Longden, Joe Culmone, Willie Shoemaker and Charlie Burr.

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 24 — Recoveries of opponents' fumbles set up three of the four touchdowns scored here today as Petersburg's Vikings and the Berkeley Springs Indians battled to a 13-13 gridiron deadlock.

Coach Jesse Riggleman's Vikings came from behind in the third period to tally on 52-yard drive following a Berkeley miscue to knot the count after the Indians had taken a 13-7 lead with two second quarter touchdowns. John Boor's try for the winning extra point after Petersburg's second score was blocked.

The first of three Berkeley bobbles which were pounced on by Petersburg led to the Vikings' initial six-pointer in the first period when John Goldizen fell on the ball on the Indians' 20. Don Sites cracked off tackle from the two for the td.

Berkeley scored following the recovery of a Petersburg fumble on the Vikings' 23 when Phil Dawson cracked over from the two. Dawson also tallied the second Indians' touchdown on a two-yard plunge following a pair of passes from Dawson to Gary Kerns, one good for 22 yards. The lineups:

14 Terps Will Play In Final Home Game

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 24 (AP)—Fourteen members of the greatest squad in Maryland's 60 years of playing football will put on their last home show against Louisiana State tomorrow.

One of the seniors, Quarterback Jack Scarbath, has been a regular since the first game of 1950. Since then, Maryland has lost only two games and tied one while winning 22. It hasn't been beaten in the last 20 games and has won the last 17 in a row, five this season.

The seniors fill seven of the first string positions on both offense and defense, which means they'll be in full view of the expected 30,000 fans as long as Coach Jim Tatum feels they're needed.

The University of Mississippi played its 62nd game in Memphis since 1893 when it played host to Auburn in Crump Stadium on Oct. 4.

Turner And Dykes Get Return Match

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24 (AP) — Welterweight contenders Gil Turner of Philadelphia and Bobby Dykes of Miami, Fla., will meet in a return 10 round bout here Nov. 18 at Convention Hall, boxing promoter Herman Taylor announced.

Turner and Dykes fought a crowd-pleasing televised bout in New York last month with the Miami puncher coming back strong in the late rounds to win a split decision. Both boys have been beaten in title bouts by Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan in the past year. Gavilan knocked out Turner and took a split verdict from Dykes.

When the New York Yankees signed a working agreement with the Birmingham Barons it marked the New Yorker's first tieup with a club in the Southern Association.

Potomac State Alumni To See New ROTC Unit

Will Take Part In Homecoming

KEYSER — Returning alumni of Potomac State School for the Homecoming festivities on the school campus will get their first glimpse of the college's newly formed ROTC unit today, when the corps' color guard will take charge of the flag ceremony before the opening of the Homecoming game at Stayman Field.

Sgt. Philip D. Beall, in charge of the local program, has expressed satisfaction with the local group which now numbers 166. "They have exceeded all expectations in overall progress so far," he said.

The corps is organized into two companies of three platoons each. Company commanders appointed by Sgt. Beall are First Sergeants William K. Hawkins, Kingwood, for Company 4; and Norman D. Messman, Cumberland, for Company B. Platoon sergeants, with a rating of master sergeant, are Joseph Talbott, Webster Springs; Leonard Calandra, Union Beach, N. J.; Harold Harrison, Renick; Andrew Porter, Keyser; Dan Rose, Pittsburgh, and Staley White, Grafton. All were selected because of past military school training, reserve or National Guard experience.

The unit's first dress drill was given last Thursday, bringing out many interested persons. On Friday, the men went, in three chartered buses to Cumberland, where the unit took part in the Greater Cumberland Exposition parade ceremonies.

Sgt. Beall reports that the indoor rifle range will be in operation by November 1, and shortly thereafter he will organize three rifle teams, viz: ROTC, a varsity team and a woman's team.

SPC. Herbert S. Tait, who helped to organize the local unit this fall, was recalled to West Virginia University. A temporary replacement assigned from the university to Potomac State School, is Lt. Henry C. West, a graduate of North Carolina State College and its ROTC. He served in the European Theater of action in World War II and more recently in Korea with the U. S. Army Engineers.

Westernport To Get Water From Old Dam

Piedmont Helps To Refill Reservoir

WESTERNPORT — To eliminate the discoloration, odor and bad taste in the Westernport water, town workmen have connected the old wooden line extending from the town's dam down the river to the beginning of the new line in the tunnel of the new Savage River dam.

The discoloration and odor are due to the disintegration of stumps, roots, leaves and vegetation in the basin of the new and larger dam.

By using the old line and securing water from the old dam, the town is able to bypass the water in the new dam.

Before making the change in the line, workmen cleaned out the old dam and blew out the old line.

The reservoir on Westernport Hill also has been cleaned and is now being refilled with water from the new source.

Water was also secured from the Piedmont line for several hours to hasten the filling of the reservoir for fire protection.

Episcopalians To See Film About St. Paul

FROSTBURG—A film on the life of St. Paul entitled, 'The First Missionary Journey," will be shown tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. in the parish hall of St. John's Episcopal Church. Adult members of the congregation are invited as well as others who may be interested.

St. John's Church has also invited students of State Teachers College to a showing of the film, "Foreign Correspondent," Sunday 8 p. m. in the parish hall. Preceding the projection of this film there will be a short film on the life of St. Paul. Refreshments will be served.

Missing Coon Dog Found By Owner In Mine Shaft

MT. SAVAGE — Raymond R. Twigg of Newtown rescued his missing coon dog from an abandoned shaft at the old Cassana Mine back of Newtown shortly after noon yesterday.

Twigg reported that the six-year old female dog had been missing since 7:30 p. m. Tuesday.

The dog barked when he, Twigg called to her from the entrance of the 40-foot shaft about noon yesterday. He obtained ropes and hip boots and rescued the missing canine which he found unhurt. There was about five feet of water in the mine at the shaft.

Although Twigg is happy to have his dog back he believes the mine shaft should be covered up. In its present condition it is dangerous to children who play in the area. A small child probably would drown in the water before help could be called.

Potomac State Alumni To See New ROTC Unit

Will Take Part In Homecoming

KEYSER — Returning alumni of Potomac State School for the Homecoming festivities on the school campus will get their first glimpse of the college's newly formed ROTC unit today, when the corps' color guard will take charge of the flag ceremony before the opening of the Homecoming game at Stayman Field.

Sgt. Philip D. Beall, in charge of the local program, has expressed satisfaction with the local group which now numbers 166. "They have exceeded all expectations in overall progress so far," he said.

The corps is organized into two companies of three platoons each. Company commanders appointed by Sgt. Beall are First Sergeants William K. Hawkins, Kingwood, for Company 4; and Norman D. Messman, Cumberland, for Company B. Platoon sergeants, with a rating of master sergeant, are Joseph Talbott, Webster Springs; Leonard Calandra, Union Beach, N. J.; Harold Harrison, Renick; Andrew Porter, Keyser; Dan Rose, Pittsburgh, and Staley White, Grafton. All were selected because of past military school training, reserve or National Guard experience.

The unit's first dress drill was given last Thursday, bringing out many interested persons. On Friday, the men went, in three chartered buses to Cumberland, where the unit took part in the Greater Cumberland Exposition parade ceremonies.

Sgt. Beall reports that the indoor rifle range will be in operation by November 1, and shortly thereafter he will organize three rifle teams, viz: ROTC, a varsity team and a woman's team.

SPC. Herbert S. Tait, who helped to organize the local unit this fall, was recalled to West Virginia University. A temporary replacement assigned from the university to Potomac State School, is Lt. Henry C. West, a graduate of North Carolina State College and its ROTC. He served in the European Theater of action in World War II and more recently in Korea with the U. S. Army Engineers.

KEYSER—The greater part of the sum needed to provide capital for Keyser Industries, Inc., an organization formed from the Keyser-Mineral County Chamber of Commerce to secure possession of the buildings of the old woolen mills in Keyser, has been obtained.

Westernport To Get Water From Old Dam

Piedmont Helps To Refill Reservoir

WESTERNPORT — To eliminate the discoloration, odor and bad taste in the Westernport water, town workmen have connected the old wooden line extending from the town's dam down the river to the beginning of the new line in the tunnel of the new Savage River dam.

The discoloration and odor are due to the disintegration of stumps, roots, leaves and vegetation in the basin of the new and larger dam.

By using the old line and securing water from the old dam, the town is able to bypass the water in the new dam.

Before making the change in the line, workmen cleaned out the old dam and blew out the old line.

The reservoir on Westernport Hill also has been cleaned and is now being refilled with water from the new source.

Water was also secured from the Piedmont line for several hours to hasten the filling of the reservoir for fire protection.

Twigg reported that the six-year old female dog had been missing since 7:30 p. m. Tuesday.

The dog barked when he, Twigg called to her from the entrance of the 40-foot shaft about noon yesterday. He obtained ropes and hip boots and rescued the missing canine which he found unhurt. There was about five feet of water in the mine at the shaft.

Although Twigg is happy to have his dog back he believes the mine shaft should be covered up. In its present condition it is dangerous to children who play in the area. A small child probably would drown in the water before help could be called.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 24 (INS)—A fascinating book has just hit the stands with the title "Desperate Women." It's the sixth book for Jim Horan, who is assistant to Paul Schoenstein, city editor of the New York Journal-American.

Do you want to know who the thirteen most desperate women were? Four were in the Civil War days, and nine from the western frontier.

One was a Northern spy who dug up the body of Admiral Dahlgreen and sent it through Rebel lines. Another was a Southern lady who had a president, vice president, five senators and congressmen as her lovers. Wow! She could give any of our glamor queens cards and spades in this romance stuff. Would you like to make a bet that this won't be gobbled up by the movies? Two offers already.

My neighbor, Irving Asher, took time out to tell me that William Dieterle will direct "Elephant Walk." Irving, himself, leaves for Ceylon in about ten days to scout locations. All the exteriors will be filmed there.

I asked Irving if he had selected a cast. He said John Lee Mahin won't finish the scripts until early next week, and they'll submit it then to Olivia De Havilland and other top stars. It calls for two Englishmen and two Americans, Irving said, and the star must be a big name because of the importance of the vehicle—one of Paramount's top productions.

The friends of Charles Laughton have been worried over his collapse at the Philharmonic during a performance of "Don Juan In Hell." There's nothing the matter with Charlie that a little rest won't help. Like the rest of us he keeps going and going too hard.

His doctors have now forbidden him to do more than one performance a day of "Don Juan," so Vincent Price will substitute for the matinee performances, but Laughton, who is a trouper if I ever saw one, will continue to do the evening shows.

Marilyn Monroe telephoned twice before she could catch up with me, and I was very pleased to have her tell me that she liked my story about her very much. I elected her one of the ten most exciting women in Hollywood. In fact, she was first on my list.

"You have always been good to me," said Marilyn. "even before anyone knew who I was, you wrote a story about me, the first story ever written about me in Hollywood."

In this town where success makes the best of them forget, it was very heartwarming to receive this telephone call.

Virginia Van Upp, who walked out of Columbia while she was writing "Affair In Trinidad," is in Germany producing pictures for the U. S. State Department.

Arlene Dahl was with Fernando Lamas again at the Modern Screen party. Lana Turner had planned to go with Lex Barker, but flu kept her home.

Ann Blyth, whose pretty face was all but covered with a big hat, talked about going to the variety benefit show which is being arranged for Dublin.

John Wayne, winner of Modern Screen's trophy as the most popular actor of the year, said he had given up cigarette smoking — too feminine. Could he have meant Anne Baxter, whose smoking of stogies is, for my money, cheap publicity?

George Lelacorte, publisher of Modern Screen, who is here with his attractive daughter, had a turn out of stars seldom equalled. Everyone was there. Nice to see Jane Powell so thrilled over winning an award.

Later, at "La Boheme," saw Kathryn Grayson with Richard Gully, Joy Orr and the French consul. Kathryn, who is doing the life of Grace Moore, hummed some of the tunes for us between the acts.

Bul Abbott and Lou Costello are being presented with a special scroll by the Sons of Italy, in recognition of their work in behalf of the Monte Cassino Orphanage in Italy. The ceremony takes place at a dinner at the New Statler November 8th.

Thats all today. See you Monday.

Down in the Valley...

It's a chronic ailment, this political fever, and apt to be nearly fatal every fourth year. Usual symptoms include high blood pressure and parched throats (natural results of defending one's favorite candidates to the end). Occasionally, too, you'll find a case of badly bowed legs, the result, no doubt, of too much fence-straddling. Yep, it's quite a plague and a wonderful one at that. Where else in this world but America can you stand up and holler for all you've got for the men you want to head your government? Come on Down in the Valley and chew the fat. Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 24 (INS)—A fascinating book has just hit the stands with the title "Desperate Women." It's the sixth book for Jim Horan, who is assistant to Paul Schoenstein, city editor of the New York Journal-American.

Do you want to know who the thirteen most desperate women were? Four were in the Civil War days, and nine from the western frontier.

One was a Northern spy who dug up the body of Admiral Dahlgreen and sent it through Rebel lines. Another was a Southern lady who had a president, vice president, five senators and congressmen as her lovers. Wow! She could give any of our glamor queens cards and spades in this romance stuff. Would you like to make a bet that this won't be gobbled up by the movies? Two offers already.

My neighbor, Irving Asher, took time out to tell me that William Dieterle will direct "Elephant Walk." Irving, himself, leaves for Ceylon in about ten days to scout locations. All the exteriors will be filmed there.

I asked Irving if he had selected a cast. He said John Lee Mahin won't finish the scripts until early next week, and they'll submit it then to Olivia De Havilland and other top stars. It calls for two Englishmen and two Americans, Irving said, and the star must be a big name because of the importance of the vehicle—one of Paramount's top productions.

The friends of Charles Laughton have been worried over his collapse at the Philharmonic during a performance of "Don Juan In Hell." There's nothing the matter with Charlie that a little rest won't help. Like the rest of us he keeps going and going too hard.

His doctors have now forbidden him to do more than one performance a day of "Don Juan," so Vincent Price will substitute for the matinee performances, but Laughton, who is a trouper if I ever saw one, will continue to do the evening shows.

Marilyn Monroe telephoned twice before she could catch up with me, and I was very pleased to have her tell me that she liked my story about her very much. I elected her one of the ten most exciting women in Hollywood. In fact, she was first on my list.

"You have always been good to me," said Marilyn, "even before anyone knew who I was, you wrote a story about me, the first story ever written about me in Hollywood."

In this town where success makes the best of them forget, it was very heartwarming to receive this telephone call.

Virginia Van Upp, who walked out of Columbia while she was writing "Affair In Trinidad," is in Germany producing pictures for the U. S. State Department.

Ann Blyth, whose pretty face was all but covered with a big hat, talked about going to the variety benefit show which is being arranged for Dublin.

John Wayne, winner of Modern Screen's trophy as the most popular actor of the year, said he had given up cigarette smoking — too feminine. Could he have meant Anne Baxter, whose smoking of stogies is, for my money, cheap publicity?

George Lelacorte, publisher of Modern Screen, who is here with his attractive daughter, had a turn out of stars seldom equalled. Everyone was there. Nice to see Jane Powell so thrilled over winning an award.

Later, at "La Boheme," saw Kathryn Grayson with Richard Gully, Joy Orr and the French consul. Kathryn, who is doing the life of Grace Moore, hummed some of the tunes for us between the acts.

Leo Gould, of Warner's publicity department, is leaving to head the publicity of Klac, owned by Mortimer Hall. Ruth Roman's husband. Ruth's baby is expected momentarily.

Bul Abbott and Lou Costello are being presented with a special scroll by the Sons of Italy, in recognition of their work in behalf of the Monte Cassino Orphanage in Italy. The ceremony takes place at a dinner at the New Statler November 8th.

Thats all today. See you Monday.

Radio And Television
by John Crosby

Milton Berle's Day Off

The list of credits for "Buick's Circus Hour" is wonderfully impressive. It's written by Anita Loos, produced and directed by John C. Wilson who is more usually found producing the works of Noel Coward, and stars Joe E. Brown whose mouth is a national monument like Yellowstone National Park; Dolores Gray, a blonde fireball of awe - inspiring lungpower; and John Raitt, one of the best ballad singers around.

John Crosby

Still, it didnt all add up to anything very monumental. Before we get any farther, I ought to explain that the "Buick Circus Hour' is a once-a-month operation designed to fit into the Milton Berle slot (NBC-TV 8 p. m. EST Tuesdays) every fourth week while Mr. B. goes off for a rest. (After all, he has to last 30 years which is when his contract expires).

The "Circus Hour" resembles old-fashioned musical comedy, the sort of thing Bert Lehr used to be in. Perhaps that's what's the matter with it, Bert Lahr isn't in it. Joe E. Brown, who still looks absurdly youthful, plays an aging clown. Miss Gray is a circus-smitten ingenue who is trying to break into the dodge against the wishes of Mr. Brown and practically everyone else. Mr. Raitt is the owner of the circus and he behaves with a certain sweeping grandeur reminiscent of the personal habits of that other noted circus operator, John Ringling North.

Everyone got the pattern now? Miss Gray, of course, is in love with Mr. Raitt. There is another blond dish, whose relations with Raitt are shadowy, who looks upon Miss Gray with ill-concealed loathing. Mr. Brown sort of acts as Cupid, benevolent uncle and—well—traffic cop to keep the elephants from stepping on the juveniles.

As circus stuff goes—if you're made for that sort of thnig—there isn't a great deal, the plot overshadowing the sworld-swallowers. Still, there is some of it. The show opens with a melange of circus folks, juggling and one thing and another, and a cacaphony of circus music. As a matter of fact, you get drenched with circus music pretty well throughout. A circus clown went through a pantomime routine shooting bottles in a shooting gallery that was pretty fine. One of those European tumbling families jumped about on springboards, sailing through the air on to one another's shoulders. There was a shot of the midway. So much for the circus elements.

The rest of it was more routine song and dance stuff. Mr. Raitt sang one of those songs about the wonders of the open road and how nice it is to sleep out in the open with the grass for a pillow, sentiments which, I'm sure, would make John Ringling North blanch with horror. Miss Gray sang one of Irving Berlin's great old songs, "Heat Wave," in the middle of a nice production number where the girls wear funny contraptions on their heads and practically nothing anywhere else. And the pair teamed up on another fine tune "Isn't It a Lovely Day To Get Caught in the Rain."

The show is short on comedy and long on sentiment, but there was one pretty funny, though I suspect, old pantomime sketch with Brown and Ben Blue. Blue played the part of a devil urging a young couple on a park bench to concupiscence while Brown, dressed like an angel with wings and a halo, was urging them on to more conventional romance. Brown won over not only the couple but the devil.

Just the same, something was missing somewhere. It wasn't circus; it wasn't musical comedy; it wasn't television. It was a sort of undigested mixture of all three. One thing that's needed is a few more laughs. Beyond that, I don't know. Maybe what the show needs is an Ethel Merman or a Martha Raye to get it off the ground. It doesn't quite catch fire.

by John Crosby

Milton Berle's Day Off

The list of credits for "Buick's Circus Hour" is wonderfully impressive. It's written by Anita Loos, produced and directed by John C. Wilson who is more usually found producing the works of Noel Coward, and stars Joe E. Brown whose mouth is a national monument like Yellowstone National Park; Dolores Gray, a blonde fireball of awe-inspiring lungpower; and John Raitt, one of the best ballad singers around.

John Crosby

Still, it didnt all add up to anything very monumental. Before we get any farther, I ought to explain that the "Buick Circus Hour' is a once-a-month operation designed to fit into the Milton Berle slot (NBC-TV 8 p. m. EST Tuesdays) every fourth week while Mr. B. goes off for a rest. (After all, he has to last 30 years which is when his contract expires).

The "Circus Hour" resembles old-fashioned musical comedy, the sort of thing Bert Lehr used to be in. Perhaps that's what's the matter with it, Bert Lahr isn't in it. Joe E. Brown, who still looks absurdly youthful, plays an aging clown. Miss Gray is a circus-smitten ingenue who is trying to break into the dodge against the wishes of Mr. Brown and practically everyone else. Mr. Raitt is the owner of the circus and he behaves with a certain sweeping grandeur reminiscent of the personal habits of that other noted circus operator, John Ringling North.

Everyone got the pattern now? Miss Gray, of course, is in love with Mr. Raitt. There is another blond dish, whose relations with Raitt are shadowy, who looks upon Miss Gray with ill-concealed loathing. Mr. Brown sort of acts as Cupid, benevolent uncle and—well—traffic cop to keep the elephants from stepping on the juveniles.

As circus stuff goes—if you're made for that sort of thnig—there isn't a great deal, the plot overshadowing the sword-swallowers. Still, there is some of it. The show opens with a melange of circus folks, juggling and one thing and another, and a cacaphony of circus music. As a matter of fact, you get drenched with circus music pretty well throughout. A circus clown went through a pantomime routine shooting bottles in a shooting gallery that was pretty fine. One of those European tumbling families jumped about on springboards, sailing through the air on to one another's shoulders. There was a shot of the midway. So much for the circus elements.

The rest of it was more routine song and dance stuff. Mr. Raitt sang one of those songs about the wonders of the open road and how nice it is to sleep out in the open with the grass for a pillow, sentiments which, I'm sure, would make John Ringling North blanch with horror. Miss Gray sang one of Irving Berlin's great old songs, "Heat Wave," in the middle of a nice production number where the girls wear funny contraptions on their heads and practically nothing anywhere else. And the pair teamed up on another fine tune "Isn't It a Lovely Day To Get Caught in the Rain."

The show is short on comedy and long on sentiment, but there was one pretty funny, though I suspect, old pantomime sketch with Brown and Ben Blue. Blue played the part of a devil urging a young couple on a park bench to concupiscence while Brown, dressed like an angel with wings and a halo, was urging them on to more conventional romance. Brown won over not only the couple but the devil.

Just the same, something was missing somewhere. It wasn't circus; it wasn't musical comedy; it wasn't television. It was a sort of undigested mixture of all three. One thing that's needed is a few more laughs. Beyond that, I don't know. Maybe what the show needs is an Ethel Merman or a Martha Raye to get it off the ground. It doesn't quite catch fire.

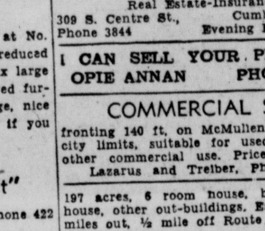
Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

HE BECOMES CAPTAIN

AS soon as one member of a pair makes the Blackwood 4-No Trumps bid, he becomes captain of the hand. His partner thereafter has no rights or duties except to answer questions about his aces and kings. It is conceivable that there could be rare situations—maybe those in which the responder has a void suit—in which he can soundly bid after the captain has bid what obviously is intended to be the contract. But that is extremely risky, since the caller of the 4-No Trumps is the only member of the side who can know for sure just how many aces and kings the side has.



(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	2 ♥	Pass	3 ♣
Pass	3 ♦	Pass	4 ♣
Pass	4 N T	Pass	5 ♦
Pass	6 N T	Pass	7 ♣

After hearing about North's one ace and one king from his responses to the Blackwood 4-No Trumps and 5-No Trumps, South selected the small slam in No Trumps as the contract, feeling confident of running twelve tricks and knowing that in that declaration there was not even the slight risk of a defensive ruff.

North was not satisfied with that. He was afraid, improperly, that his hand, with nothing of visible merit except clubs, might prove a worthless dummy for his partner. So he took out the No Trump small slam into a grand slam at his suit. If East had been foolish enough to double that, said South, he then would have gone into 7-No Trumps, feeling sure that the double had been based on ability to lead the missing ace. Shifting to No Trumps would have made West the opening leader, and he might have guessed wrong, after which South might run thirteen tricks—as he could have.

But East was smart enough to pass the 7-Clubs and merely beat it by laying down his heart A.

After the deal South explained that, if North had bid 6-Clubs over the 5-No Trumps, he would have passed, giving North the job of catching the K, maybe in a finesse.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

W H L L E Z H U X K E Y H N N W M T U-
C A R , L R U W F K S S K A U A W M Z E Z A S E
O W M I T S A — X E V I A U.

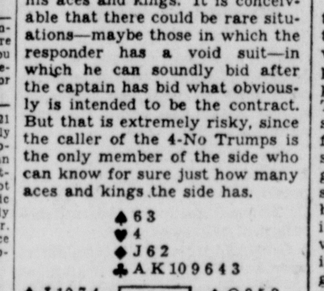
Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

HE BECOMES CAPTAIN

AS soon as one member of a pair makes the Blackwood 4-No Trumps bid, he becomes captain of the hand. His partner thereafter has no rights or duties except to answer questions about his aces and kings. It is conceivable that there could be rare situations—maybe those in which the responder has a void suit—in which he can soundly bid after the captain has bid what obviously is intended to be the contract. But that is extremely risky, since the caller of the 4-No Trumps is the only member of the side who can know for sure just how many aces and kings the side has.



(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	2♥	Pass	3♣
Pass	3♦	Pass	4♣
Pass	6 N T	Pass	7♣

After hearing about North's one ace and one king from his responses to the Blackwood 4-No Trumps and 5-No Trumps, South selected the small slam in No Trumps as the contract, feeling confident of running twelve tricks and knowing that in that declaration there was not even the slight risk of a defensive ruff.

North was not satisfied with that. He was afraid, improperly, that his hand, with nothing of visible merit except clubs, might prove a worthless dummy for his partner. So he took out the No Trump small slam into a grand slam at his suit. If East had been foolish enough to double that, said South, he then would have gone into 7-No Trumps, feeling sure that the double had been based on ability to lead the missing ace. Shifting to No Trumps would have made West the opening leader, and he might have guessed wrong, after which South might run thirteen tricks—as he could have.

But East was smart enough to pass the 7-Clubs and merely beat it by laying down his heart A.

After the deal South explained that, if North had bid 6-Clubs over the 5-No Trumps, he would have passed, giving North the job of catching the K, maybe in a finesse.

Your Weekend Question

If the declarer had made an original suit bid of three or four —except in fourth-hand position —what can you usually count on your partner to hold in any side suit in which you don't see the main honors in the dummy?

Five Convicted In Midway Inn Whisky Trial

One Man Freed On One Count

All five defendants arrested in a raid June 1 at the Midway Inn on McMullen Highway yesterday were convicted by a jury in Allegany County Circuit Court of illegally selling alcoholic beverages and four of the five were found guilty of keeping alcoholic beverages for purposes of sale.

David D. Norris, Piney Grove, jury foreman, announced the verdicts after the jury had been deliberating about 40 minutes.

Five Convicted

Found guilty on the first count, sale of alcoholic beverages, were Nicholas Larro, Johanna Marie Larro, his wife; Ellsworth A. Kenealy, Frances L. Blauch and Harry M. Smith Jr. On the second count, keeping alcoholic beverages for purposes of sale, Kenealy was found not guilty. However, the other four were convicted on this count too. The Midway had no liquor license.

Associate Judge George Henderson immediately ordered all five remanded to jail to await sentencing in the case, which he implied might take place today.

When Attorney H. Gassaway Shores, Keyser, W. Va., one of the defendants' two attorneys, asked whether they might be allowed to remain free under bond pending sentencing, Judge Henderson said they would not.

"It will not be a fine in the case of the Larros, you can be sure," Judge Henderson commented concerning the prospects of the sentence. "I believe the other three would have been better off had they remained silent during this trial because I believe they all perjured themselves," the judge concluded.

Surprising Note

One surprising note was injected into the trial earlier in the day when Shores and Thomas Lohr Richards, this city, the defense attorneys, alleged that State Police Lt. W. E. O'Hara and Trooper First Class William F. Baker looked at their notes Thursday while waiting for the case to be called.

Lt. O'Hara explained that he and Trooper Baker found papers, including statements taken from the five defendants, on the table in the grand jury room and assumed they were the state's attorney's. He added that the room often is used by the state's attorney during trials and is always left open.

During the trial City Police Officer John S. Chaney testified that he purchased a drink of whisky and cola from Larro on the morning in question. County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya and Deputy Sheriff Edgar M. Lewis said between 175 and 200 persons were in the Midway at the time of the raid about 1:30 a. m. Sunday, June 1.

In their closing arguments to the jury, Defense Attorneys Shores and Richards contended that the beer, whisky and gin seized on the search warrants had been assembled for a private party to be held after the road house closed. Three New Jersey relatives of the Larros' were there for the party, they added.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher dramatically emphasized the quantity of alcoholic beverages that had been seized as he concluded his argument to the jury. Stressing that it must have been "quite a party" the" the defendant were planning Fletcher first pointed to 13 cases of beer stacked in the courtroom. Then he picked up a nearly full fifth of whisky and a half-full fifth of gin and placed them on the court clerk's desk. Finally he added in a row four full fifths of whisky and six full fifths of gin as well as three pints of whisky.

Appeal Cases Heard By Judge

A number of criminal appeals were disposed of yesterday by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris sitting in the auxiliary courtroom

Louis Donius, this city, received a six-month sentence in the Maryland House of Correction on an habitual drunkard charge. The sentence was suspended on condition that the defendant keep the peace and be of good behavior. He had appealed a six-month sentence in the House of Correction imposed by Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Donius also was indicted this month on an assault and battery charge but no action was taken on this court. He is accused of assaulting John Murphy August 20.

Harry C. Twigg, charged with failure to grant the right-of-way, was convicted by a jury. A charge of driving without a license was dismissed by the state. Magistrate Dick had fined him $10 and had given him 30 days in jail on the failure to grant right-of-way and $5 fine on the license charge.

Benjamin Franklin Swisher was found not guilty of a charge of failing to stop after an accident involving property damage. In the lower court he had been fined $25 by Magistrate Dick.

In another case Walter L. Porter pleaded guilty to neglect and nonsupport of three minor children. He was turned over to the custody of the sheriff's office to see if he will be accepted for Navy service. Magistrate Alban C. Thompson had sentenced him to two years in the Maryland House of Correction.

Planning Session Set

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission will meet Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. in the Mayor's office at City Hall. James A. Avirett, chairman, will preside.

Beall Says Top Democrats Gave Freeze To President In His Whistle-Stop Here

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24 (AP)—Rep. J. Glenn Beall said today the top leaders of the Democratic party in Maryland gave the freeze to President Truman when the President stopped at Cumberland Thursday on a whistle stop tour.

The Republican Congressman from Western Maryland, now running for the U. S. Senate, twitted his Democratic opponent, George P. Mahoney, about it in a statement today.

Beall said Mahoney had turned his back on Truman by failing to be on hand at Cumberland. He said Mahoney apparently was ashamed of the President.

Had Other Engagements

None of the party's top state functionaries was at Cumberland. Party headquarters in Baltimore explained the President's stop there was scheduled on short notice and its big guns already were engaged elsewhere.

(William L. Wilson, Jr., chairman of the Allegany County Democratic State Central Committee, said last night invitations were extended on Monday to Mahoney and Mrs. Werner to appear here at the time of the President's visit, but he was advised they had previous engagements.

(When Mahoney left here October 18, he informed local Democratic leaders he intended to devote the last two weeks of the campaign to Baltimore city and vicinity.

(Wilson said local Democratic leaders did not know for a certainty until last Saturday night that President Truman was coming to Cumberland.)

Beall said he was astonished at what he called the violence of the President's speech at Cumberland, and added:

"Could it be the President was not so mad with Republicans, as he pretended, but was wounded and hurt by the attitude of his own political party? What a freeze they gave him!

"Where was George Mahoney? Is George ashamed of the man who once gave him access to all those political jobs through the Office of Price Stabilization?"

Beall's blast was the latest in the exchanges between the rivals for the senate, which came almost to the point of blows when they appeared face-to-face on a television program earlier this week.

It followed Mahoney's charge that Beall has been a failure as a congressman.

"If he has ever had an idea for a positive program, a thorough search of the record fails to show it," Mahoney said.

Beall's handlers have been trying to egg Mahoney into another face-to-face debate before election day but the Mahoney people have not taken up the challenge so far.

Lee Ignores Call To Quit Demo Office

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24 (AP) — J. Tyson Lee brushed aside today a demand that he resign as secretary of the Frederick County State Central Committee because of his support for the Republican nominee for U. S. Senate.

Thomas S. Glass, chairman of the county Democratic campaign committee, called for Lee's resignation yesterday after Lee came out for Rep. J. Glenn Beall and called George P. Mahoney, the Democratic nominee, a "complete fraud."

In response to Glass' demand, Lee issued a statement saying:

"I have no intention of resigning. Did Senator Wayne Morse (R-Ore) resign as U. S. Senator when he came out for Stevenson?"

"What the average citizen does not understand," Lee continued, "is that central committees, outside of dealing in patronage, are supposed to mold and form public opinion for the voters of their parties. It doesn't work this way here in Frederick County.

"I'm supposed to help in leading the voters. How can I help lead them in supporting a man I know to be unfit for public office?"

Of the Republican candidate Lee said:

"Glenn Beall is a man with little personal appeal. He is a terrible public speaker." But Lee added, "He has shown himself to be a man with deep personal convictions . . . . loyal to his constituents . . . . and honest as the day is long."

Chamber Backs Fund Campaign In Frostburg

Goal May Be Reached At Meeting Monday

Officials of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce yesterday commended the efforts of residents of Frostburg to raise a fund of $80,000 to make possible a new plant for the Michael Berkowitz Company and urged the business and commercial interests of Cumberland to help make the drive successful.

Hope that the goal may be reached by Monday night was expressed last night by members of the Frostburg Industrial Committee.

Meeting Is Planned

Charles N. Hill, finance chairman, said leaders of the drive will meet Monday at 8 p. m. in City Hall at Frostburg, and hope to wind up the campaign at the meeting.

Hill declared that if Cumberland goes along, the committee is sure the goal can be reached at the meeting.

In a statement issued last night, Edgar D. Vandegrift, chairman of the Industrial Promotion Committee of the Cumberland Chamber, declared:

"It is important to the whole Cumberland area that the Berkowitz plant continue to operate in Frostburg. The area is an economic unit, and whatever helps any portion of it also helps the entire area. That is the premise upon which our whole industrial promotion effort is based.

"The Chamber heartily commends and is completely sympathetic to the Frostburg effort. Some of its member firms have already subscribed to the fund. It appears now that the fund is within $5,000 or $6,000 of its ultimate goal. It is hoped that this can be raised within the next few days. Frostburg needs and deserves a helping hand from its good neighbor, Cumberland."

To Support Drive

Vandegrift also explained that the Industrial Promotion Fund of $160,000, recently raised by the Chamber, is strictly earmarked for industrial promotion purposes, and under the terms of the pledges made and the trusteeship agreement for the administration of the fund, can not be used for capital improvements or for any other purpose. This limitation, he said, precludes the allocation of any of the money to the Frostburg effort. He added that this was satisfactorily explained to officials of the Frostburg drive and that they fully understand it.

Nevertheless, he felt that Cumberland interests would support the Frostburg drive and assured the Frostburg drive leaders that the Cumberland Chamber would approve their efforts.

He Said Mahoney!

The Cumberland News always stands ready to correct mistakes.

Several reporters for The News heard President Truman ask his listeners Thursday in Cumberland to vote for George P. Mahoney for the United States Senate. They thought he said Maloney.

The News since has been taken to task for saying the President said Maloney when he really said Mahoney.

Use of the word Maloney was an honest mistake due to misunderstanding, and certainly was not intentional.

Dr. Hodges Stresses Pain Relief

Caudle Anesthesia History Discussed

"Ten Years Experience With Obstetrical Pain Relief" was the topic of a paper presented by Dr. W. Royce Hodges, local obstetrician, at the regular meeting of the Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society last night in the basement auditorium of the Memorial Hospital Nurses' Home.

His remarks last night involved the same subject which he discussed at the 26th annual Congress of Anaesthetists in London, England.

Dr. Hodges used ordinary types of pain relief until 1942. Dr. Robert Hingson, at that time in the United States Public Health Service, about that time originated caudal anesthesia for pain relief. Dr. Hingson now is professor of anesthesia at Western Reserve University in Cleveland.

As soon as he heard of Dr. Hingson's development, Dr. Hodges immediately contacted him and learned the technique. Since that time the local physician has used it over 2,100 times.

Caudal anesthesia is the type of anesthesia which was featured in a nationally-circulated magazine about a year ago. It showed that a mother has absolute pain relief and frequently reads a paper during labor.

Dr. Nicholas J. Eastman, professor of obstetrics at Johns Hopkins University, recently wrote an article that said caudal anesthesia was by far the best for women, that it could be used and gave complete pain relief and without any danger to the baby. However, it can be used with only about 50 per cent of the mothers.

Dr. Hodges has the largest series of caudals of any single obstetrician in the United States, exclusive of professors who work full-time in universities.

Weather

Yesterday was the kind of day the poets write about. It started off on the coolish side but by afternoon, the temperature was up to 72 from a low of 47 degrees. By 8 p. m. it had dropped to 57 degrees. The crisp dry weather—the humidity was 26 per cent at 6 p. m.—was enjoyed by about everybody except the fire wardens, who were kept on the hop by forest fires. The Weather Bureau predicts fair weather for today, but warned it may be a cooler by afternoon.

Sperry Released On $2,000 Bond In Hatchet Case

Youth To Be Held For Grand Jury

Irvin Leroy Sperry, 19, the jilted Morantown youth who allegedly attacked a rival suitor over a 17-year-old girl's affections with a hatchet October 17, has been released under $2,000 bond for action of the January term of the Grand Jury.

The youth was given a hearing yesterday morning at Trial Magistrate's Court by J. Milton Dick. Sperry was charged with assault with intent to kill.

He had been held in Allegany County jail since October 17, according to the State's Attorneys office. A warrant on assault with intent to kill was served on Sperry Tuesday.

Investigating the altercation which placed the assailant's victim in Sacred Heart Hospital for two days were Troopers William F. Baker and Robert Wolford of the LaVale Barracks of the Maryland State Police.

They said Sperry parked his car at the driveway of the home of his former girl friend late Friday night. Until three weeks ago the investigators said, the two had been dating but since then the girl was dating Bruce Edward Diehl, 17, of Barrellville.

Diehl and the girl, together with the former's brother and his girl friend, had a double date Friday night, State Police said.

Upon their return to the girl's home, they found Sperry's car blocking the road, the officers reported. Sperry started the motor of the auto, bumping and damaging the Diehl car.

Both drivers jumped from their cars, and police said Sperry proceeded to attack Diehl with the sharp hatchet, striking him four times in the head and forehead, and once on the left shoulder, using both the hammer end and the blade end, according to the police.

The girl ran for assistance and when her father arrived at the scene, Diehl had Sperry on the ground. Sperry then fled, they reported, leaving his car there and called State Police.

After the investigation, when they found Diehl in the hospital Saturday and Sunday, they filed the warrant against Sperry.

Groups Hear Smith Talk On Silicones

"Silicones, New Engineering Material," was the subject of a talk this week by E. J. Smith, manager of the Washington office of Dow-Corning Corporation at a joint meeting of the Instrument Society of America and the American Chemical Society at the Ali Ghan Country Club.

Smith explained briefly the manufacturing process for producing silicones and some of the difficulties involved. Smith noted that silicone products of his company could be divided into four types: fluids, greases, varnishes and coating resins, and elastimers.

The fluid silicones have the lowest viscosity slope of any fluid known, Smith added, and they are probably more widely used by the general public than any of the other types of silicones. The silicone greases which are less familiar to the public are principally a mixture of the silicone fluids and a filler, much the same as petroleum greases.

Smith noted the silicones are made in a third type which is electrical varnishes and coating resins. The fourth type of silicone product, Smith said, are the silicone elastimers. To outward appearances they are very much like rubber.

Ramp To Speed Snow Removal

The Street Department has built a ramp at the end of Bedford Street to speed the disposal of snow this winter.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner, said the ramp will allow trucks to dump loads of snow from downtown streets into Wills Creek within a few minutes after trucks are loaded.

The mechanical snow loader which has been used by the department for several years will further speed the job of snow removal.

Plans are also being made to secure an ordinance which will restrict night parking on downtown streets when snow hits.

Mrs. Roeder said Thomas B. Finan, city solicitor, will be asked to help plan the ordinance designed to speed the work of the Street Department.

Yesterday, Edward L. Ewald, chairman of the Classified Section, met with eight group chairmen, each of whom had committee members present, at a luncheon in Central YMCA.

Plans for the coming drive were discussed by Ewald and various work was assigned to the men who will solicit employe groups of about 205 local firms in an effort to raise $35,000.

Fires Continue Destruction In Area Forests

Scherr Resident Dies Of Burns

Forest fires, which have scorched the Tri-State area in the past several days, have claimed the life of an elderly man of Scherr, W. Va., and caused considerable damage to farmlands.

District Forester William H. Johnson yesterday issued a warning to hunters to be cautious in preventing the blazes which have kept volunteer firemen and employes of the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks on the go for the past 72 hours.

George Washington Ebert, 84, died Thursday night in Potomac Valley Hospital as a result of burns suffered Wednesday while fighting a brush fire near his home.

Hunting Season Postponed

Due to the current dry spell, West Virginia authorities have postponed the hunting season. Fighters are on duty in the Dans Mountain area in an effort to keep a fire which began Thursday evening from starting up again, Johnson said.

The ground and logs are smouldering, Johnson added and may result in a new outbreak. Hunters have been blamed for most of the fires.

About 2 p. m. yesterday a blaze began on lower Town Creek and was brought under control about 5:15 p. m. William Slider, forest guard, secured aid from State Roads Commission men nearby as well as trained forest fire fighters service crew at Oldtown, in fighting the blaze which burned about 12 acres.

A small blaze which scorched about one-eighth of an acre at Cranberry Hill yesterday afternoon was brought under control by Forest Oliver S. Campbell. Thursday night a forest fire was brought under control at Little Orleans with about 10 acres being burned. In charge of the fighting was Brook Bodkin, forest supervisor.

In Garrett County about 25 acres were scorched at Red Oak near Kempton Thursday afternoon and the blame was put on careless hunters. About one-fourth of an acre was burned at Underwood yesterday.

National Forest Ravaged

Approximately 40 men last night were fighting fires in Tucker County and about 300 acres of valuable land were affected. Four of the fires were being fought in Monongahela National Forest and seven blazes were being combatted outside the park.

On the scene during the fires, which plagued the West Virginia county since Thursday, were over 400 fighters. The largest blaze is concentrated in the Blackwater Canyon along the Western Maryland Railway.

Aiding in fighting the fires were volunteer firemen from Parsons and other nearby companies, as well as the football team and coach of Parsons High School.

Ebert, the elderly victim of the flames, is reported to have sustained his fatal burns when his clothing ignited while he was fighting a fire near his farm home.

A native of Grant County, (W. Va.) he was a son of the late Henry and Elizabeth (Lyons) Ebert and had worked as a farmer. His wife, Mrs. Cecil Ebert, preceded him in death. Ebert was a member of Scherr Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are three sons, Rennie Ebert, Elk Garden; Roy D. Ebert, Laureldale, and Leo G. Ebert, Scherr; two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Staggs, Burlington and Mrs. Grace Muntzing, Maysville.

One brother, Henry M. Ebert, Laureldale, and 11 grandchildren. The body is at the Rogers Funeral Home, Keyser. A funeral service will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Oakdale (W. Va) Church of the Brethren. Rev. Joseph E. Whitacre, pastor, will officiate with interment in Idleman Cemetery, Scherr.

Woman Found Guilty Of Fraud

Mrs. Dorothea June Miller, Dawson mother of five children, yesterday was convicted of fraud in the acceptance of $400 from the County Welfare Department while she was employed.

Associate Judge George Henderson, who heard the case without a jury in Allegany County Circuit Court, deferred passing sentence in the case. However, he informed the woman and her court-appointed attorney, George R. Hughes, Jr., that arrangements must be made for her to repay the $400.

Witnesses presented by Assistant State's Attorney William H. Geppert testified that Mrs. Miller worked in a Keyser deparment store in December and at a drive-in theatre in this county from March to May. Welfare Department employes said that she failed to report these earnings and continued to accept $100 each month while working.

When Mrs. Miller took the stand, she admitted that she had paid $900 for an automobile this year. She said the money came from a $3,500 insurance policy left her by a friend who died Christmas Eve. She also acknowledged that her brother is building her a house at Dawson and she has spent some money for materials.

Five Convicted In Midway Inn Whisky Trial

One Man Freed On One Count

All five defendants arrested in a raid June 1 at the Midway Inn on McMullen Highway yesterday were convicted by a jury in Allegany County Circuit Court of illegally selling alcoholic beverages and four of the five were found guilty of keeping alcoholic beverages for purposes of sale.

David D. Norris, Piney Grove, jury foreman, announced the verdicts after the jury had been deliberating about 40 minutes.

Five Convicted

Found guilty on the first count, sale of alcoholic beverages, were Nicholas Larro, Johanna Marie Larro, his wife; Ellsworth A. Kenealy, Frances L. Blauch and Harry M. Smith Jr. On the second count, keeping alcoholic beverages for purposes of sale, Kenealy was found not guilty. However, the other four were convicted on this count too. The Midway had no liquor license.

Associate Judge George Henderson immediately ordered all five remanded to jail to await sentencing in the case, which he implied might take place today.

When Attorney H. Gassaway Shores, Keyser, W. Va., one of the defendants' two attorneys, asked whether they might be allowed to remain free under bond pending sentencing, Judge Henderson said they would not.

"It will not be a fine in the case of the Larros, you can be sure," Judge Henderson commented concerning the prospects of the sentence. "I believe the other three would have been better off had they remained silent during this trial because I believe they all perjured themselves," the judge concluded.

Surprising Note

One surprising note was injected into the trial earlier in the day when Shores and Thomas Lohr Richards, this city, the defense attorneys, alleged that State Police Lt. W. E. O'Hara and Trooper First Class William F. Baker looked at their notes Thursday while waiting for the case to be called.

Lt. O'Hara explained that he and Trooper Baker found papers, including statements taken from the five defendants, on the table in the grand jury room and assumed they were the state's attorney's. He added that the room often is used by the state's attorney during trials and is always left open.

During the trial City Police Officer John S. Chaney testified that he purchased a drink of whisky and cola from Larro on the morning in question. County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya and Deputy Sheriff Edgar M. Lewis said between 175 and 200 persons were in the Midway at the time of the raid about 1:30 a. m. Sunday, June 1.

In their closing arguments to the jury, Defense Attorneys Shores and Richards contended that the beer, whisky and gin seized on the search warrants had been assembled for a private party to be held after the road house closed. Three New Jersey relatives of the Larros' were there for the party, they added.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher dramatically emphasized the quantity of alcoholic beverages that had been seized as he concluded his argument to the jury. Stressing that it must have been "quite a party" the" the defendant were planning Fletcher first pointed to 13 cases of beer stacked in the courtroom. Then he picked up a nearly full fifth of whisky and a half-full fifth of gin and placed them on the court clerk's desk. Finally he added in a row four full fifths of whisky and six full fifths of gin as well as three pints of whisky.

Appeal Cases Heard By Judge

A number of criminal appeals were disposed of yesterday by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris sitting in the auxiliary courtroom

Louis Donius, this city, received a six-month sentence in the Maryland House of Correction on an habitual drunkard charge. The sentence was suspended on condition that the defendant keep the peace and be of good behavior. He had appealed a six-month sentence in the House of Correction imposed by Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Donius also was indicted this month on an assault and battery charge but no action was taken on this court. He is accused of assaulting John Murphy August 20.

Harry C. Twigg, charged with failure to grant the right-of-way, was convicted by a jury. A charge of driving without a license was dismissed by the state. Magistrate Dick had fined him $10 and had given him 30 days in jail on the failure to grant right-of-way and $5 fine on the license charge.

Benjamin Franklin Swisher was found not guilty of a charge of failing to stop after an accident involving property damage. In the lower court he had been fined $25 by Magistrate Dick.

In another case Walter L. Porter pleaded guilty to neglect and nonsupport of three minor children. He was turned over to the custody of the sheriff's office to see if he will be accepted for Navy service. Magistrate Alban C. Thompson had sentenced him to two years in the Maryland House of Correction.

Planning Session Set

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24 (AP)—Rep. J. Glenn Beall said today the top leaders of the Democratic party in Maryland gave the freeze to President Truman when the President stopped at Cumberland Thursday on a whistle stop tour.

The Republican Congressman from Western Maryland, now running for the U. S. Senate, twitted his Democratic opponent, George P. Mahoney, about it in a statement today.

Beall said Mahoney had turned his back on Truman by failing to be on hand at Cumberland. He said Mahoney apparently was ashamed of the President.

Had Other Engagements

None of the party's top state functionaries was at Cumberland. Party headquarters in Baltimore explained the President's stop there was scheduled on short notice and its big guns already were engaged elsewhere.

(William L. Wilson, Jr., chairman of the Allegany County Democratic State Central Committee, said last night invitations were extended on Monday to Mahoney and Mrs. Werner to appear here at the time of the President's visit, but he was advised they had previous engagements.

(When Mahoney left here October 18, he informed local Democratic leaders he intended to devote the last two weeks of the campaign to Baltimore city and vicinity.

(Wilson said local Democratic leaders did not know for a certainty until last Saturday night that President Truman was coming to Cumberland.)

Beall said he was astonished at what he called the violence of the President's speech at Cumberland, and added:

"Could it be the President was not so mad with Republicans, as he pretended, but was wounded and hurt by the attitude of his own political party? What a freeze they gave him!

"Where was George Mahoney? Is George ashamed of the man who once gave him access to all those political jobs through the Office of Price Stabilization?"

Beall's blast was the latest in the exchanges between the rivals for the senate, which came almost to the point of blows when they appeared face-to-face on a television program earlier this week.

It followed Mahoney's charge that Beall has been a failure as a congressman.

"If he has ever had an idea for a positive program, a thorough search of the record fails to show it," Mahoney said.

Beall's handlers have been trying to egg Mahoney into another face-to-face debate before election day but the Mahoney people have not taken up the challenge so far.

Lee Ignores Call To Quit Demo Office

BALTIMORE, Oct. 24 (AP) — J. Tyson Lee brushed aside today a demand that he resign as secretary of the Frederick County State Central Committee because of his support for the Republican nominee for U. S. Senate.

Thomas S. Glass, chairman of the county Democratic campaign committee, called for Lee's resignation yesterday after Lee came out for Rep. J. Glenn Beall and called George P. Mahoney, the Democratic nominee, a "complete fraud."

In response to Glass' demand, Lee issued a statement saying:

"I have no intention of resigning. Did Senator Wayne Morse (R-Ore) resign as U. S. Senator when he came out for Stevenson?"

"What the average citizen does not understand," Lee continued, "is that central committees, outside of dealing in patronage, are supposed to mold and form public opinion for the voters of their parties. It doesn't work this way here in Frederick County.

"I'm supposed to help in leading the voters. How can I help lead them in supporting a man I know to be unfit for public office?"

Of the Republican candidate Lee said:

"Glenn Beall is a man with little personal appeal. He is a terrible public speaker." But Lee added, "He has shown himself to be a man with deep personal convictions . . . . loyal to his constituents . . . . and honest as the day is long."

Chamber Backs Fund Campaign In Frostburg

Goal May Be Reached At Meeting Monday

Officials of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce yesterday commended the efforts of residents of Frostburg to raise a fund of $80,000 to make possible a new plant for the Michael Berkowitz Company and urged the business and commercial interests of Cumberland to help make the drive successful.

Hope that the goal may be reached by Monday night was expressed last night by members of the Frostburg Industrial Committee.

Meeting Is Planned

Charles N. Hill, finance chairman, said leaders of the drive will meet Monday at 8 p. m. in City Hall at Frostburg, and hope to wind up the campaign at the meeting.

Hill declared that if Cumberland goes along, the committee is sure the goal can be reached at the meeting.

In a statement issued last night, Edgar D. Vandegrift, chairman of the Industrial Promotion Committee of the Cumberland Chamber, declared:

"It is important to the whole Cumberland area that the Berkowitz plant continue to operate in Frostburg. The area is an economic unit, and whatever helps any portion of it also helps the entire area. That is the premise upon which our whole industrial promotion effort is based.

"The Chamber heartily commends and is completely sympathetic to the Frostburg effort. Some of its member firms have already subscribed to the fund. It appears now that the fund is within $5,000 or $6,000 of its ultimate goal. It is hoped that this can be raised within the next few days. Frostburg needs and deserves a helping hand from its good neighbor, Cumberland."

To Support Drive

Vandegrift also explained that the Industrial Promotion Fund of $160,000, recently raised by the Chamber, is strictly earmarked for industrial promotion purposes, and under the terms of the pledges made and the trusteeship agreement for the administration of the fund, can not be used for capital improvements or for any other purpose. This limitation, he said, precludes the allocation of any of the money to the Frostburg effort. He added that this was satisfactorily explained to officials of the Frostburg drive and that they fully understand it.

Nevertheless, he felt that Cumberland interests would support the Frostburg drive and assured the Frostburg drive leaders that the Cumberland Chamber would approve their efforts.

He Said Mahoney!

The Cumberland News always stands ready to correct mistakes.

Several reporters for The News heard President Truman ask his listeners Thursday in Cumberland to vote for George P. Mahoney for the United States Senate. They thought he said Maloney.

The News since has been taken to task for saying the President said Maloney when he really said Mahoney.

Use of the word Maloney was an honest mistake due to misunderstanding, and certainly was not intentional.

Dr. Hodges Stresses Pain Relief

Caudle Anesthesia History Discussed

"Ten Years Experience With Obstetrical Pain Relief" was the topic of a paper presented by Dr. W. Royce Hodges, local obstetrician, at the regular meeting of the Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society last night in the basement auditorium of the Memorial Hospital Nurses' Home.

His remarks last night involved the same subject which he discussed at the 26th annual Congress of Anaesthetists in London, England.

Dr. Hodges used ordinary types of pain relief until 1942. Dr. Robert Hingson, at that time in the United States Public Health Service, about that time originated caudal anesthesia for pain relief. Dr. Hingson now is professor of anesthesia at Western Reserve University in Cleveland.

As soon as he heard of Dr. Hingson's development, Dr. Hodges immediately contacted him and learned the technique. Since that time the local physician has used it over 2,100 times.

Caudal anesthesia is the type of anesthesia which was featured in a nationally-circulated magazine about a year ago. It showed that a mother has absolute pain relief and frequently reads a paper during labor.

Dr. Nicholas J. Eastman, professor of obstetrics at Johns Hopkins University, recently wrote an article that said caudal anesthesia was by far the best for women, that it could be used and gave complete pain relief and without any danger to the baby. However, it can be used with only about 50 per cent of the mothers.

Dr. Hodges has the largest series of caudals of any single obstetrician in the United States, exclusive of professors who work full-time in universities.

Yesterday was the kind of day the poets write about. It started off on the coolish side but by afternoon, the temperature was up to 72 from a low of 47 degrees. By 8 p. m. it had dropped to 57 degrees. The crisp dry weather—the humidity was 26 per cent at 6 p. m.—was enjoyed by about everybody except the fire wardens, who were kept on the hop by forest fires. The Weather Bureau predicts fair weather for today, but warned it may be a cooler by afternoon.

Sperry Released On $2,000 Bond In Hatchet Case

Youth To Be Held For Grand Jury

Irvin Leroy Sperry, 19, the jilted Morantown youth who allegedly attacked a rival suitor over a 17-year-old girl's affections with a hatchet October 17, has been released under $2,000 bond for action of the January term of the Grand Jury.

The youth was given a hearing yesterday morning at Trial Magistrate's Court by J. Milton Dick. Sperry was charged with assault with intent to kill.

He had been held in Allegany County jail since October 17, according to the State's Attorneys office. A warrant on assault with intent to kill was served on Sperry Tuesday.

Investigating the altercation which placed the assailant's victim in Sacred Heart Hospital for two days were Troopers William F. Baker and Robert Wolford of the LaVale Barracks of the Maryland State Police.

They said Sperry parked his car at the driveway of the home of his former girl friend late Friday night. Until three weeks ago the investigators said, the two had been dating but since then the girl was dating Bruce Edward Diehl, 17, of Barrellville.

Diehl and the girl, together with the former's brother and his girl friend, had a double date Friday night, State Police said.

Upon their return to the girl's home, they found Sperry's car blocking the road, the officers reported. Sperry started the motor of the auto, bumping and damaging the Diehl car.

Both drivers jumped from their cars, and police said Sperry proceeded to attack Diehl with the sharp hatchet, striking him four times in the head and forehead, and once on the left shoulder, using both the hammer end and the blade end, according to the police.

The girl ran for assistance and when her father arrived at the scene, Diehl had Sperry on the ground. Sperry then fled, they reported, leaving his car there and called State Police.

After the investigation, when they found Diehl in the hospital Saturday and Sunday, they filed the warrant against Sperry.

Groups Hear Smith Talk On Silicones

"Silicones, New Engineering Material," was the subject of a talk this week by E. J. Smith, manager of the Washington office of Dow-Corning Corporation at a joint meeting of the Instrument Society of America and the American Chemical Society at the Ali Ghan Country Club.

Smith explained briefly the manufacturing process for producing silicones and some of the difficulties involved. Smith noted that silicone products of his company could be divided into four types: fluids, greases, varnishes and coating resins, and elastimers.

The fluid silicones have the lowest viscosity slope of any fluid known, Smith added, and they are probably more widely used by the general public than any of the other types of silicones. The silicone greases which are less familiar to the public are principally a mixture of the silicone fluids and a filler, much the same as petroleum greases.

Smith noted the silicones are made in a third type which is electrical varnishes and coating resins. The fourth type of silicone product, Smith said, are the silicone elastimers. To outward appearances they are very much like rubber.

Ramp To Speed Snow Removal

The Street Department has built a ramp at the end of Bedford Street to speed the disposal of snow this winter.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner, said the ramp will allow trucks to dump loads of snow from downtown streets into Wills Creek within a few minutes after trucks are loaded.

The mechanical snow loader which has been used by the department for several years will further speed the job of snow removal.

Plans are also being made to secure an ordinance which will restrict night parking on downtown streets when snow hits.

Mrs. Roeder said Thomas B. Finan, city solicitor, will be asked to help plan the ordinance designed to speed the work of the Street Department.

Plans for the coming drive were discussed by Ewald and various work was assigned to the men who will solicit employe groups of about 205 local firms in an effort to raise $35,000.

Fires Continue Destruction In Area Forests

Scherr Resident Dies Of Burns

Forest fires, which have scorched the Tri-State area in the past several days, have claimed the life of an elderly man of Scherr, W. Va., and caused considerable damage to farmlands.

District Forester William H. Johnson yesterday issued a warning to hunters to be cautious in preventing the blazes which have kept volunteer firemen and employes of the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks on the go for the past 72 hours.

George Washington Ebert, 84, died Thursday night in Potomac Valley Hospital as a result of burns suffered Wednesday while fighting a brush fire near his home.

Hunting Season Postponed

Due to the current dry spell, West Virginia authorities have postponed the hunting season. Fighters are on duty in the Dans Mountain area in an effort to keep a fire which began Thursday evening from starting up again, Johnson said.

The ground and logs are smouldering, Johnson added and may result in a new outbreak. Hunters have been blamed for most of the fires.

About 2 p. m. yesterday a blaze began on lower Town Creek and was brought under control about 5:15 p. m. William Slider, forest guard, secured aid from State Roads Commission men nearby as well as trained forest fire fighters service crew at Oldtown, in fighting the blaze which burned about 12 acres.

A small blaze which scorched about one-eighth of an acre at Cranberry Hill yesterday afternoon was brought under control by Forest Oliver S. Campbell. Thursday night a forest fire was brought under control at Little Orleans with about 10 acres being burned. In charge of the fighting was Brook Bodkin, forest supervisor.

In Garrett County about 25 acres were scorched at Red Oak near Kempton Thursday afternoon and the blame was put on careless hunters. About one-fourth of an acre was burned at Underwood yesterday.

National Forest Ravaged

Approximately 40 men last night were fighting fires in Tucker County and about 300 acres of valuable land were affected. Four of the fires were being fought in Monongahela National Forest and seven blazes were being combatted outside the park.

On the scene during the fires, which plagued the West Virginia county since Thursday, were over 400 fighters. The largest blaze is concentrated in the Blackwater Canyon along the Western Maryland Railway.

Aiding in fighting the fires were volunteer firemen from Parsons and other nearby companies, as well as the football team and coach of Parsons High School.

Ebert, the elderly victim of the flames, is reported to have sustained his fatal burns when his clothing ignited while he was fighting a fire near his farm home.

A native of Grant County, (W. Va.) he was a son of the late Henry and Elizabeth (Lyons) Ebert and had worked as a farmer. His wife, Mrs. Cecil Ebert, preceded him in death. Ebert was a member of Scherr Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are three sons, Rennie Ebert, Elk Garden; Roy D. Ebert, Laureldale, and Leo G. Ebert, Scherr; two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Staggs, Burlington and Mrs. Grace Muntzing, Maysville.

One brother, Henry M. Ebert, Laureldale, and 11 grandchildren. The body is at the Rogers Funeral Home, Keyser. A funeral service will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Oakdale (W. Va) Church of the Brethren. Rev. Joseph E. Whitacre, pastor, will officiate with interment in Idleman Cemetery, Scherr.

Woman Found Guilty Of Fraud

Mrs. Dorothea June Miller, Dawson mother of five children, yesterday was convicted of fraud in the acceptance of $400 from the County Welfare Department while she was employed.

Associate Judge George Henderson, who heard the case without a jury in Allegany County Circuit Court, deferred passing sentence in the case. However, he informed the woman and her court-appointed attorney, George R. Hughes, Jr., that arrangements must be made for her to repay the $400.

Witnesses presented by Assistant State's Attorney William H. Geppert testified that Mrs. Miller worked in a Keyser deparment store in December and at a drive-in theatre in this county from March to May. Welfare Department employes said that she failed to report these earnings and continued to accept $100 each month while working.

When Mrs. Miller took the stand, she admitted that she had paid $900 for an automobile this year. She said the money came from a $3,500 insurance policy left her by a friend who died Christmas Eve. She also acknowledged that her brother is building her a house at Dawson and she has spent some money for materials.

Opens Demo HQ

Ross F. Shaw of Oldtown yesterday announced he has opened Democratic campaign headquarters for Election District 2 at his home.

Shaw said campaign literature will be available at his office-home, which will be open every week day.
